Effective Visual Representation Richard Prudenti,2018 Landscape architecture lacks evidence based theory for the communicative effectiveness of graphics used in representing design ideas to stakeholders For the purpose of this study communicative effectiveness is operationalized as visual communication that expresses accurately the design in a way that the receiver understands the intentions programmatic experiential or otherwise of the design People need graphic representation to grasp abstract concepts and drawings can help one imagine what a place can look like years down the road Hester 2007 Graphics inform the viewer about essential elements of the design and the broader impact that design has on future experiences Coe 1981 Knowing how people perceive and understand design graphics is key to communicating effectively to clients and other stakeholders Graphic communication is complex and no formula exists for communication in landscape architecture Kingery Page and Hahn 2012 Ware 2014 The questions guiding this study are What graphic representation styles increase the non designers understanding of design proposals Do degrees of abstraction or realism affect understanding of the design drawing I identified three research phases to adequately answer the questions Phase One Site Design Development I designed a site plan for the Manhattan Arts Center MAC a community arts center in Manhattan Kansas Design intentions were carefully outlined based on stakeholder input Phase Two Graphics Production Visual representations of the site design were developed in styles ranging from formal abstract to more realistic based on review of precedent images in academic and professional architectural publications Phase Three Evaluation of Graphics Through Focus Groups The communicative effectiveness of the representations were tested through three focus groups of stakeholders Content analysis of the recorded focus group sessions revealed patterns of understanding the graphics Overall participants revealed that the more real the abstraction the less understanding takes place Formal Abstraction communicates the physical dimensions of the design most effectively and Formal Abstraction has relatively the same communicative effectiveness regarding experience of place Quantitative and qualitative data informed the creation of theories and a framework practitioners may use for selecting the most effective graphic communication options appropriate to project and audience Key Words Effective visual representation visual communication graphic style Formal Abstraction Semi Realistic Abstraction Realistic Abstraction drawings design intent design ideas accurate perception understanding stakeholders non designer landscape architecture

Federal Design Matters, 1974 Women in Scandinavian Landscape Architecture Svava Riesto, Henriette Steiner, 2024-12-02 Women were active in landscape architecture in Scandinavia throughout the twentieth century yet little is known about their contribution This volume therefore asks where are the women in Scandinavian landscape architecture It thus presents new knowledge about women s contributions to the shaping of modern cities and landscapes in the Scandinavian welfare states With chapters by some of the most respected architectural and landscape architectural historians as well as up and coming scholars and practice based artistic researchers the book make three major contributions First it asks the previously neglected question of women s contributions to twntieth century landscape architecture in Denmark Sweden and Norway Second it does so from a transnational perspective bringing together researchers from Scandinavia and Finland Third it documents how collaborative formats for knowledge creation can generate new insights and fruitful links between researchers and research materials The book brings to light new knowledge and new forms of architectural historical work on the contributions of many women landscape architects to designed open spaces

Visualizing Landscape Architecture Elke Mertens, 2009-10-16 We don t sell gardens we sell images of gardens This observation on the part of a landscape architect makes it clear just how important it is that a design be effectively communicated to the community clients and the public Drawings models simulations and films communicate the designers proposed ideas and solutions but they also convey their attitude toward the use of nature and the environment With myriad possibilities including computer programs as well as hand drawings and models which continue to be widely used and strong competition in the field there is now a huge variety of visual representations with agreed upon rules but also a great deal of freedom In three large sections this books sifts through the currently commonplace and available techniques and evaluates them in terms of their informative value and persuasive power always illustrating its points with analysis of examples from international firms An introductory look at the development thus far is followed by a systematic presentation of modes of representation in two three and four dimensions in the plane in space and in the temporal process The second section deals with the sequence within the workflow from the initial sketch through concept and implementation planning all the way to the finished product The third section deals with the strategic use of visualizations in the context of competitions future schemes and large scale landscape planning The focus in this section is not on the familiar use of the relevant techniques but rather on the methods and forms of visual representation in contemporary landscape architecture Representing Landscapes: Digital Nadia Amoroso,2015-02-27

Most landscape architectural designs now include some form of digital representation but there is much more scope for creativity beyond the standard Photoshop montages In this new book on representing landscapes Nadia Amoroso brings together contributions from some of the leading landscape departments in the world to explore the variety in digital illustration methods In each chapter leading lecturers professors and practitioners in the field of landscape architecture explain a specific digital approach with the use of images from their department to show how each technique can be used in inspirational examples Throughout the book over 200 colour images cover the spectrum of digital representation to help discuss the various drawing types which are invaluable when communicating ideas in the field of landscape architecture With worked examples in the chapters and downloadable images suitable for class use this is an essential book for visual communication and design studios Beyond Buildings J. Donald Ragsdale,2014-03-25 Beyond Buildings Designed Spaces as Visual Persuasion is an assessment of the visual persuasiveness of designed spaces It demonstrates that these spaces are as socially influential as speeches or advertisements are and that an awareness of this influence provides an insight into the cultural roles of designed spaces The book considers a diverse array of spaces ranging from pleasure gardens and parks to city parks and cities themselves and includes assessments of the visual impact of national parks zoological gardens amusement parks battlefields and monuments and the interior spaces of buildings Beyond Buildings is an extension of theories of persuasion and visual communication to landscape architecture and interior design The book bases its assessments on the elements of visual literacy as well as the elements of landscape and interior design to show that such designed spaces as gardens parks battlefields and cities affect the viewer in such a way as to have social impact The
