G K Chesterton The Scandal of Father The Hermit Clad in Crane Feathers in R Brown The point of a Pin van Gulik's The Chinese Maze Murders Growing specialization and diversification have brought a host of monographs and textbooks on increasingly specialized topics However the tree of knowledge of mathematics and related fields does not grow only by putting forth new branches It also happens quite often in fact that branches which were thought to be completely disparate are suddenly seen to be related Further the kind and level of sophistication of mathematics applied in various sciences has changed drastically in recent years measure theory is used non trivially in regional and theoretical economics algebraic geometry interacts with physics the Minkowsky lemma coding theory and the structure of water meet one another in packing and covering theory quantum fields crystal defects and mathematical programming profit from homotopy theory Lie algebras are relevant to filtering and prediction and electrical engineering can use Stein spaces And in addition to this there are such new emerging subdisciplines as experimental mathematics CFD completely integrable systems chaos synergetics and large scale order which are almost impossible to fit into the existing classification schemes They draw upon widely different sections of mathematics

The Publishers' Trade List Annual, 1985. Statistical Intervals William Q. Meeker, Gerald J. Hahn, Luis A. Escobar, 2017-08-22. Describes statistical intervals to quantify sampling uncertainty focusing on key application needs and recently developed methodology in an easy to apply format. Statistical intervals provide invaluable tools for quantifying sampling uncertainty. The widely hailed first edition published in 1991 described the use and construction of the most important statistical intervals. Particular emphasis was given to intervals such as prediction intervals, tolerance intervals and confidence intervals on distribution quantiles frequently needed in practice but often neglected in introductory courses. Vastly improved computer capabilities over the past 25 years have resulted in an explosion of the tools readily available to analysts. This second edition more than doubles the size of the first, adds these new methods in an easy to apply format. In addition to extensive updating of the original chapters, the second edition includes new chapters on Likelihood based statistical intervals, Nonparametric bootstrap intervals, Parametric bootstrap and other simulation based intervals, An introduction to Bayesian intervals, Bayesian intervals for the popular binomial, Poisson and normal distributions, Statistical intervals for Bayesian hierarchical models, Advanced case studies further illustrating the use of the newly described methods. New technical appendices provide justification of the methods and pathways to extensions and further applications. A webpage directs readers to current readily accessible computer software and other useful information.

Statistical Intervals: A Guide for Practitioners and Researchers, Second Edition is an up to date working guide and reference for all who analyze data allowing them to quantify the uncertainty in their results using statistical intervals.
