science teachers understand how to go about designing lessons that are culturally relevant. The hope is that the lessons that are detailed in each chapter will inspire teachers to draw the cultural knowledge from their students and capitalize on it when designing science lessons. After an introductory chapter that discusses how science education has shifted in recent decades to address the needs of diverse students, the main body of the text is divided into three sections. The first part introduces Culturally Relevant Pedagogy (CRP) as a framework; this is important for those readers unfamiliar with Gloria Ladson-Billings' work. It addresses and discusses the three tenets of CRP: Academic Success, Cultural Competence, and Critical Consciousness, and it includes an explanation of how each area can be observed and addressed in science education, specifically. The second part features lesson plans from secondary science classrooms written by teachers from different subject areas, i.e., life science, physical science, earth science, etc. The lesson plans follow the 5E Instructional Model (Bybee et al., 2006). This model promotes inquiry by guiding teachers in the design of lesson plans that are based upon cognitive psychology, constructivist learning theory, and best practices in science teaching.
