

What the American Flag Means to Me?

3 pages | 536 words

The American Flag stands today to reveal that the fantastic location we call America, is permanently joined and will stand strong till we are all no more. Foreigners concern visit our nation and notification that, we Americans have lots of purity, innocence, honor and peace, which the 6 white stripes on our flag indicate. Also, we are all full of power, strength, bravery and endurance since we don't allow anybody or anything to tear our country apart. We will forever stand as one in a blue field of justice, fairness and right. I believe that our freedom is what makes us really distinct. I find it extraordinary that in America; everybody is treated relatively and equally. Our flag is a representation of, not simply our private spiritual liberty, but of our standing together and ruling as one. The flag is one of the best possessions that this nation has ever had. I think that the flag is more than simply a piece of fabric drifting around on a pole; I believe that the flag is what keeps our country bonded together as a whole. It is a gorgeous thing and I believe that it will never ever be forgotten. There are numerous races living here in America. This reveals that individuals from all over the world have come to us for much better chances, flexibility, tasks, and most notably safety. I know understand that, now due to the fact that of our flag and country, we are trustworthy and worthy of the title of the "United States of America". Individuals who are currently or have when served this country are thanked everyday for their braveness and difficult work to keep this nation a safe place to be. They have put their life on the line so that they can keep our nation in leading shape. Most importantly, they could be anybody you know. Individuals in the military vary races and are member of the family, good friends and even complete strangers. But to everyone, they will always be thanked for their appreciation toward us. They have tried their hardest to protect our nation. Some have actually lost their lives to serving us. They passed away, at least knowing, that they have done the best thing which nobody will ever forget them. We have multiple rights that have made us who we are today. We have the freedom of speech. This is the right to speak your mind and tell the world what you believe is right. You will not be punished for what you believe. You have your own thoughts and nobody can change that. You also have the freedom of religion. The freedom of religion allows you to choose which religion you would like to practice. There are many religions out in this world to choose from and you will also not be punished for your choice of what you practice. We have the freedom of movement which allows you to move to where ever you feel is the safest and best place for your family to live in. You will never be arrested for moving around to different...
