Post-Digital, Post-Internet Art and Education Kevin Tavin, Gila Kolb, Juuso Tervo, 2021-06-28 This open access edited volume provides theoretical practical and historical perspectives on art and education in a post digital post internet era. Recently these terms have been attached to artworks artists exhibitions and educational practices that deal with the relationships between online and offline digital and physical and material and immaterial. By taking the current socio technological conditions of the post digital and the post internet seriously contributors challenge fixed narratives and field specific ownership of these terms as well as explore their potential and possible shortcomings when discussing art and education. Chapters also recognize historical forebears of digital art and education while critically assessing art media and other realms of engagement. This book encourages readers to explore what kind of educational futures might a post digital post internet era engender.

In Real Life Jon Mitchell, 2014-12-16 Technology can help us with some of our most difficult work. It can also offer us endless distractions. Can technology help us as individuals and communities in our most important task that of being a good person? Jon Mitchell sets out to identify and explore the ways in which we can develop a more thoughtful relationship with technology. Rather than only using our technological devices as a medium for connecting with the world he recommends we rethink our relationship with technology and see it as a resource that allows us to have a more intimate and personal relationship with ourselves and the world around us Mitchell offers concrete practices for streamlining and improving the way we use technology in our daily lives Writing in a relatable conversational easy to read style Mitchell draws on his years of experience as a tech journalist and mindfulness practitioner to propose a rethinking of both the design of technology and its use
