

Cookbook holder

Tired of getting your cookbooks grubby in the kitchen? Here's the solution

This simple cookbook holder will make a great gift, and is perfect for all you woodworkers who are a dab hand in the kitchen, too.

First of all, choose your timber. I would recommend a good-quality, close-grained hardwood compatible with foodstuffs, for instance maple.

You may need to edge joint battens to make a wide enough board, in which case follow the tried and trusted technique of planing, gluing and clamping.

Cut your board slightly oversize after the glue has cured, taking care to get your angles on the base and brace neat and straight. Plane off the edges, and then mark out your hinge positions.

Carefully cut the hinge recess on the front with a mallet and chisel. You can do the same for the rear if you want it to fold exactly flat, but as the hinges are not seen, it's not so crucial. Next you want to cut the rebates in the book-support ledge. The size of these rebates will be determined by the thickness of the Perspex you can get hold of. The fit should be snug, but not too tight, and will ideally be cut with a router table. You could rout by hand, but because of the small workpiece, support for the router is essential. After sanding through the grits, finish with Tung oil. ■

What you need

- 450 x 300 x 12mm Perspex
- Perspex sheet
- 4 x 50mm butt hinges
- Router and cutter to match Perspex
- Length of cord
- Tung oil

Small hole in front and back of stand for cord

FRONT ELEVATION
