reference for both advanced students and researchers in word formation and related fields within linguistics Language Universals and Linguistic Typology Bernard Comrie,1989 New Challenges in Typology Matti Miestamo,Bernhard Wälchli,2007 The sixteen chapters in this volume are written by typologists and typologically oriented field linguists who have completed their Ph D theses in the first four years of this millennium The authors address selected theoretical questions of general linguistic relevance drawing from a wealth of data hitherto unfamiliar to the general linguistic audience The general aim is to broaden the horizons of typology by revisiting existing typologies with larger language samples exploring domains not considered in typology before taking linguistic diversity more seriously strengthening the connection between typology and areal linguistics and bridging the gap to other fields such as historical linguistics and sociolinguistics The papers cover grammatical phenomena from phonology morphology up to the syntax of complex sentences The linguistic phenomena scrutinized include the following foot and stress tone infixation inflection vs derivation word formation polysynthesis suppletion person marking reflexives alignment transitivity tense aspect mood systems negation interrogation converb systems and complex sentences More general methodological and theoretical issues such as reconstruction markedness semantic maps templates and use of parallel corpora are also addressed The contributions in this volume draw from many traditional fields of linguistics simultaneously and show that it is becoming harder and maybe also less desirable to keep them separate especially when taking a broadly cross linguistic approach to language The book is of interest to typologists and field linguists as well as to any linguists interested in theoretical issues in different subfields of linguistics
