Joan Lockwood O'Donovan,2023-11-16 This study commends the public theology of the English Reformation as a fruitful though neglected resource for a critical analysis of the contradictions of freedom that riddle late modern liberal democracies and a constructive response to them Drawn from the key legal liturgical homiletic and confessional elements of the English Reformation this foundational Anglican tradition provides a theological vantage point for understanding current moral and political impasses in the western legacy of natural rights The extensive development of natural rights in pre modern scholastic theory and practice and its continuity with theoretical development from the 17th century onward make the Reformers criticisms of scholastic moral political and ecclesial thought germane to identifying the problematic features of the prevailing modern tradition and to furnishing a theological alternative to them These features are an individualistic and voluntarist conception of moral agency a regulative and juridical orientation to human relationships and an anthropocentric concentration on human rather than on divine right judgement and freedom The humanity they portray is detached from its created ordering to Christological perfection and bound within a self enclosed ethical and political self understanding This is effectively countered by the English reformers presentation of the salvation of creation in Christ faith working through love the spiritual fellowship of the church and the provisional character of political jurisdiction Claiming the Stones, for this aesthetic model and evaluates its differences from the models developed by Burke Kant and Hegel This study sheds light on Wordsworth and Romanticism in several ways It establishes key differences between his aesthetics and that of Burke Kant and other predecessors it offers an insightful understanding of the aesthetic nature of Wordsworth's poetic achievement and it grounds its close rhetorical analysis of texts and figures in relevant historical and political contexts The Holy
