Streams and Rivers Tatenda Dalu, Frank Masese, 2014-11-09 The Afrotropical Streams and Rivers: Structure, Ecological Processes, and Management is a comprehensive guide that provides assessment of major rivers and tributaries in Africa. Unlike other books available, the editors present a thorough study of geomorphological, hydrological, biological, and ecological processes incorporating a range of plant and animal communities while considering implications of human communities that depend upon them. This book, edited by a diverse cohort of researchers and/or scholars, is intended as an educational and practical guide for graduate students, researchers, and scientists who focus on the biodiversity conservation and management policy issues of the African river systems. Provides a comprehensive introduction to African freshwater rivers, their biota, and abiotic processes. Contains unique case studies on African streams and rivers. Organised around an interdisciplinary approach that covers the complex aspects of conservation and management of African river systems on the continent. The 2015

Regional Forecast and Urban Development Patterns Sonny Conder, 1964 Water Management in Megacities Cecilia Tortajada, Olli Varis, Asit K. Biswas, Jan Lundqvist, 2013-09-13 Efficient and equitable water, wastewater, and stormwater management for the megacities is becoming an increasingly complex task. The special issue will focus on water management in its totality for megacities, including their technical, social, economic, legal, institutional, and environmental dimensions through a series of specially invited case studies from different megacities of the world. At present, around one out of two of the earth's 6.3 billion people live in urban areas. Each year, the world population grows by around 80 millions. Practically all of this growth is urban, primarily due to migration. World's urban population is expected to reach 5 billion by 2030, which is nearly 2.3rd more than in 2000 and would mean that 60% of world's population will live in urban areas. The case studies analysed include some of the most interesting and challenging megacities of this planet: Dhaka, Istanbul, Jakarta, Johannesburg, Mexico City, Riyadh, and São Paulo. They assess different aspects of how water is intermingled in the overall development milieu. The special issue will consider the magnitudes, nature, and extent of the present and future challenges and how these could be met in socially acceptable and cost effective ways The contributors are all acknowledged water experts from different parts of the world This book was previously published as a special issue of the International Journal of Water Resources Development

Social Constructions of Water Quality in South Africa Suvania Naidoo, 2022-05-04 This book details how the water quality of the Blesbokspruit River in Gauteng South Africa was socially constructed by stakeholders and key individuals in the context of acid mine drainage AMD and its treatment Social constructionism is used as the framing for this research to explain how water is intrinsically social Findings presented here show that stakeholders are aware that the changes in the physicality of the Blesbokspruit resulted from human interventions and varied uses of the water over the years Such knowledge among factors such as the historical context of mining current coal mining flows and volumes of water technology used and processes followed information and communication and vested interests influence social constructions of the water quality What counts as the truth about water varies depending on the individual's perspective their purpose and their individual interests Further how one defines water quality influences what treatment processes are preferred in order to improve water quality The book explains why for example a treatment process meant to improve water quality gained a bad reputation by the public because of the South African government's silo approach The book explains how these social constructions are entrenched in power relations between stakeholders regarding AMD treatment and illustrates how power was used to influence decisions to improve the water quality of the Blesbokspruit The case presented in this book offers insights and recommendations for policymakers working in water governance including means to influence social constructions of water quality and ways to clarify roles and responsibilities in pursuit of improved cooperative government

Ecological Informatics Friedrich Recknagel, William K. Michener, 2017-09-21 This book introduces readers to ecological informatics as an emerging discipline that takes into account the data intensive nature of ecology the valuable information to be found in ecological data and the need to communicate results and inform decisions including those related to research conservation and resource management At its core ecological informatics combines developments in information technology and ecological theory with applications that facilitate ecological research and the dissemination of results to scientists and the public Its conceptual framework links ecological entities genomes organisms populations communities ecosystems landscapes with data management analysis and synthesis and communicates new findings to inform decisions by following the course of a loop In comparison to the 2nd edition published in 2006 the 3rd edition of Ecological Informatics has been completely restructured on the basis of the generic conceptual framework provided in Figure 1 It reflects the significant advances in data management analysis and synthesis that have been made over the past 10 years including new remote and in situ sensing techniques the emergence of ecological and environmental observatories novel evolutionary computations for knowledge discovery and forecasting and new approaches to communicating results and informing decisions

Lesser Flamingos Lothar Krienitz,2018-12-31 This book provides insights into the fascinating life of the Lesser Flamingo Phoeniconaias minor and describes how this enigmatic bird has adapted to the extreme conditions of tropical soda lakes and can even withstand the caustic effects of brine However humans are increasingly disrupting the natural cycles of these wetlands and for these pink birds characteristic of these salt lakes it is becoming more and more difficult to find suitable habitats food and breeding grounds Their fate is considered a cautionary example of man's dealings with nature Will the Lesser Flamingo survive in a man made world Flamingos are considered to be an embodiment of the Phoenix and the author interweaves his personal experiences with and observations of the flamingos unusual habitats with the Phoenix motif in order to stimulate reflection on the circle of life Written in an accessible style that combines science biological information and the author's own travels and fieldwork the book also includes a wealth of captivating images As such it offers a unique resource for biologists and nature loving Africa and Asia enthusiasts alike

Forging Solidarity Astrid von Kotze, Shirley Walters,2017-04-13 Animating this book is a twofold question In what ways are adult and popular educators responding to various harsh economic political cultural and environmental conditions In doing so are they planting seeds of hope for and imaginings of alternative futures which can connect individuals and communities locally and globally to achieve economic ecological and social justice The book illustrates how transformative politics of solidarity often involve actors across vastly different backgrounds Solidarity is therefore a political relationship that is forged through particular struggles situated in place and time across power differentials The authors put popular education to work by describing and analysing their strategies and approaches They do so using accessible language and engaging styles Popular education is a medium for dreaming for imagining other futures It is also essential for countering the Modern Trends in Diatom Identification Gabriel Cristóbal, Saúl Blanco, Gloria Bueno, 2020-05-28 High resolution images of phytoplankton cells such as diatoms or desmids which are useful for monitoring water quality can now be provided by digital microscopes facilitating the automated analysis and identification of specimens Conventional approaches are based on optical microscopy however manual image analysis is impractical due to the huge diversity of this group of microalgae and its great morphological plasticity As such there is a need for automated recognition techniques for diagnostic tools e g environmental monitoring networks early warning systems to improve the management of water resources and decision making processes Describing the entire workflow of a bioindicator system from capture analysis and identification to the determination of quality indices this book provides insights into the current state of the art in automatic identification systems in microscopy

Seismic Characterization of Carbonate Platforms and Reservoirs J. Hendry, P. Burgess, D. Hunt, X. Janson, V. Zampetti, 2021-08-17 Modern seismic data have become an essential toolkit for studying carbonate platforms and reservoirs in impressive detail Whilst driven primarily by oil and gas exploration and development data sharing and collaboration are delivering fundamental geological knowledge on carbonate systems revealing platform geomorphologies and how their evolution on millennial time scales as well as kilometric length scales was forced by long term eustatic oceanographic or tectonic factors Quantitative interrogation of modern seismic attributes in carbonate reservoirs permits flow units and barriers arising from depositional and diagenetic processes to be imaged and extrapolated between wells This volume reviews the variety of carbonate platform and reservoir characteristics that can be interpreted from modern seismic data illustrating the benefits of creative interaction between geophysical and carbonate geological experts at all stages of a seismic campaign Papers cover carbonate exploration including the uniquely challenging South Atlantic pre salt reservoirs seismic modelling of carbonates and seismic indicators of fluid flow and diagenesis

Zero Hour: A Countdown to the Collapse of South Africa's Apartheid System Geoffrey Hebdon, 2022-07-15 This enlightening book focuses on the history of how the ethnic groups of Africa eventually joined by white colonizers from Europe created the seedbed for the hateful apartheid system in Southern Africa The reader learns how apartheid began the dehumanizing effects it had on the black population and how it was finally abolished in its zero hour in 1994 Written by historian writer and researcher Geoffrey Hebdon this is the second in a series that covers the experience of a British citizen who emigrated to South Africa during that era and records in vivid detail his responses to the apartheid system and how South Africa and neighbouring countries evolved after apartheid was abolished As well as the first European settlers and the white Afrikaners attempted enslavement of the black population the book also covers the Zulu wars the Anglo Boer wars and individuals who supported apartheid such as Cecil Rhodes and the whites only National Party of South Africa Also covered are prominent leaders of the African National Congress ANC and the black revolutionaries who fought against apartheid many of whom gave their lives or served life sentences for their struggle including Nelson Mandela who became South Africa's first black president after serving years in prison

Non-Western Identity Byron G. Adams, Fons J. R. van de Vijver, 2022-02-02 Identity is a construct strongly rooted and still predominantly studied in Western or WEIRD (Western educated industrialized rich and democratic) contexts e.g. North American and Western European. Only recently has there been more of a conscious effort to study identity in non-Western or non-WEIRD contexts. This edited volume investigates identity from primarily a non-Western perspective by studying non-Western contexts and non-Western minority or immigrant groups living in Western contexts. The contributions a) examine different aspects of identity e.g. personal identity, social identity, online identity as either independent or interrelated constructs; b) consider the associations of these constructs with aspects of intergroup relations, acculturative processes and/or psychological well-being; c) document the advancement in research on identity in underrepresented groups, contexts and regions such as Africa, Asia, Eastern Europe, the Middle East and South America; and d) evaluate different approaches to the study of identity and the implications thereof. This book is intended for cultural or cross-cultural academics, practitioners, educators, social workers, postgraduate students, undergraduate students and scholars interested in studying identity. It provides insight into how identity in non-Western groups and contexts may both be informed by and may inform Western theoretical perspectives.
