Question 10
A company is considering a new investment project. The project has a 50% chance of being successful and a 50% chance of being unsuccessful. If the project is successful, the company will receive a payoff of $100,000. If the project is unsuccessful, the company will receive a payoff of $0. The company's cost of capital is 10%. What is the net present value of the project?

Answer: $45,455

Explanation: The net present value of the project is the present value of the expected cash flows minus the initial investment. The expected cash flow is $50,000 (50% of $100,000). The present value of the expected cash flow is $45,455 ($50,000 / 1.10). The initial investment is $0. Therefore, the net present value of the project is $45,455.
