Handbook of Pragmatics Jef Verschueren, Jan-Ola

Östman, 2022-08-15 The Manual section of the Handbook of Pragmatics produced under the auspices of the International Pragmatics Association IPrA is a collection of articles describing traditions, methods and notational systems relevant to the field of linguistic pragmatics. The main body of the Handbook contains all topical articles. The first edition of the Manual was published in 1995. This second edition includes a large number of new traditions and methods articles from the 24 annual installments of the Handbook that have been published so far. It also includes revised versions of some of the entries in the first edition. In addition, a cumulative index provides cross references to related topical entries in the annual installments of the Handbook and the Handbook of Pragmatics Online at <https://benjamins.com/online/hop> which continues to be updated and expanded. This second edition of the Manual is intended to facilitate access to the most comprehensive resource available today for any scholar interested in pragmatics as defined by the International Pragmatics Association: the science of language use in its widest interdisciplinary sense as a functional i.e. cognitive, social and cultural perspective on language and communication.

Lexical Creativity, Texts and Contexts Judith Munat, 2007-11-06 The coining of novel lexical items and the creative manipulation of existing words and expressions is heavily dependent on contextual factors including the semantic, stylistic, textual and social environments in which they occur. The twelve specialists contributing to this collection aim to illuminate creativity in word formation with respect to functional discourse roles but also examine critical creativity determined by language policy as well as diachronic phonetic variation in creatively coined words. The data based either on large corpora or smaller hand collected samples is drawn from advertising, the daily press, electronic communication, literature, spoken interaction, cartoons, lexical ontologies and style guides. The coining of novel lexical items and the creative manipulation of existing words and expressions is heavily dependent on contextual factors including the semantic, stylistic, textual and social environments in which they occur. The twelve specialists contributing to this collection aim to illuminate creativity in word formation with respect to functional discourse roles but also examine critical creativity determined by language policy as well as diachronic phonetic variation in creatively coined words. The data based either on large corpora or smaller hand collected samples is drawn from advertising, the daily press, electronic communication, literature, spoken interaction, cartoons, lexical ontologies and style guides. Each study analyses novel formations in relation to their contexts of use and inevitably leads to the crucial question of creativity vs productivity. By focussing on creative lexical formations at the level of parole, these studies provide insights into morphological theory at the level of langue and ultimately seek to explain lexical creativity as a function of language use.
