Leap 4.0. African Perspectives on the Fourth Industrial Revolution Zamanzima Mazibuko-Makena, Erika Kraemer-Mbula., 2021-04-09 Leap 4 0 African Perspectives on the Fourth Industrial Revolution seeks to identify the challenges and opportunities the 4IR presents to South Africa and the rest of the African continent especially to workers and marginalised sectors of society Authors examine the prerequisites for the successful introduction of the 4IR including infrastructure skilled personnel and appropriate regulation They underline the importance of inclusive innovation with a deliberate objective to create net new jobs and reduce inequality The 4IR is well established in many parts of the world with technological advances driving profound social and economic change However for many developing countries particularly countries in Africa the 4IR may not offer the anticipated leap forward There is a danger that the continent may find itself dictated to by experiences that are not in tune with its social contexts

Technical and Vocational Teaching in South Africa
Reuben Dlamini,Ian Moll,Vasidevan Naiker,2024-07-23 This book unpacks the notion of pedagogy in South African technical and vocational education and training TVET enhancing the importance of the psychological dimension of learning The book is premised on the idea that as stories of actual grounded teaching and learning practices emerge from South African colleges a coherent picture of pedagogy can be established With chapters by practising TVET educators writing about their own work the volume seeks to reconceptualise vocational teaching and learning processes with diversity and inclusivity in mind The book will be of interest to students and scholars of TVET and education in South Africa as well as South African college practitioners and policymakers

A Country of Two Agricultures Wandile Sihlobo,2023-08-14 Nearly three decades after the dawn of democracy South Africa has remained a country of two agricultures On the one hand we have a subsistence primarily non commercial black farming segment On the other hand however we have a predominantly commercial and white farming sector that is well resourced and has access to domestic and international trade networks These disparities can be traced back to South Africa s painful history where for decades black farmers were on the margins of government support and also experienced land dispossession and livestock plunder A Country of Two Agricultures focuses less on history and more on the present and the future explaining why these disparities have persisted in the democratic era and what it will take to overcome them It aims to contribute to a better understanding of the variety of agricultural forces taking into account both questions of domestic political economy and external factors as well as to bring to light new risks and opportunities Wandile Sihlobo offers insights into the role of agriculture in the South African economy from an agricultural economy perspective and provides political economy insights that are rooted in the experiences of farming communities on the ground and right through the value chain Beyond insights on the realities this book offers the government the private sector and anyone interested in the betterment of the South African economy tools to grapple with this duality and proposes a framework for bolstering the black farming segment for growth and competitiveness and ultimately food security Wandile Sihlobo is the Chief Economist of the Agricultural Business Chamber of South Africa Agbiz and the author of Finding Common Ground Land Equity and Agriculture

New Models for Technical and Vocational Education and Training
Makgato, Moses,Afeti, George,2020-12-18 Technical and vocational education and training at technical schools are major contributing factors in combating poverty unemployment and inequality The primary purpose of technical and vocational education and training is to prepare students and learners for the world of work and for a smooth transition from education

Residential Architecture as Infrastructure Stephen H. Kendall, 2021-11-29 This edited collection provides an up to date account by a group of well informed and globally positioned authors of recently implemented projects public policies and business activities in Open Building around the world Countless residential Open Building projects have been built in a number of countries some without knowledge of the original theory and methods These projects differ in architectural style building industry methods economic system and social aims National building standards and guidelines have been promulgated in several countries Finland China Japan Korea providing incentives and guidance to Open Building implementation Businesses in several countries have begun to deliver advanced FIT OUT systems both for new construction and for retrofitting existing buildings demonstrating the economic advantages of the responsive independent dwelling This book also argues that the open building approach is essential for the reactivation of the existing building stock for long term value because in the end it costs less The book discusses these developments in residential architecture from the perspective of an infrastructure model of built environment This model enables decision makers to manage risk and uncertainty while avoiding a number of problems often associated with large fast moving projects such as separation and distribution of design tasks and responsibility and the ensuing boundary frictions Residential Architecture as Infrastructure adds to the Routledge Open Building Series and will appeal to architects urban designers researchers and policy makers interested in this international review of current projects policies and business activities focused on Open Building implementation

Global Perspectives on Work-Based Learning Initiatives Talbot, Jon, 2018-10-05 The purpose of education has been debated in recent years especially surrounding its curriculum and structure In order to fully understand this discussion the relationship between education and the labor market must be explored Global Perspectives on Work Based Learning Initiatives is a pivotal reference source that provides vital research on recent progress in selected countries across the globe in educational programs designed to better prepare students for the workforce through the use of work related learning While highlighting topics such as degree apprenticeships integrated learning strategy and economic development this book is ideally designed for education administrators professors business and education professionals academicians researchers and graduate level students seeking current research on the relationship between the education and labor market Clown of the City Stephan de Beer,2020-11-25 At opening this book everything one has learned or thought about urban ministry is challenged and changed Stephan de Beer offers a fresh exciting and thoroughly engaging approach The title is enticing and playful but the book is a serious grappling with the daunting realities of a shadowed marginalised urban life It does not theorise or pontificate about a concept The author is not a distant neutral observer He is an engaged minister to the people a struggler in their struggles prophet to the powerful This book invites the reader to join the people of the cities under siege by failed policies empty promises and disastrous politics in their struggles for meaningful life and it makes a powerful persuasive case Stephan de Beer has offered us a great gift and a wonderful opportunity to think and hope anew and differently about the life reality and future of the city Dietary
