A Designer is a Scientist who creates an Emotional Connection between a Brand and its Audiences* Yasushi Kusume, 2016-10 Design is an essential element of business It maximises the work of internal and external experts It brings focus to foresight ideas to innovation and expression to marketing In short it helps companies grow and prosper Yet many businesses ignore the potential of design

They fail to make full use of the competences and skills designers have to offer One reason for this is that there is no established academic science of design This book takes steps to fill that gap by offering its own design science a science called Designology Designology should embrace a wide range of disciplines from neuroscience psychology and sociology to anthropology ethnology and behavioural science This book however decides to focus on just two of these disciplines neuroscience and psychology to demonstrate that design is a science rather than an art and that designers equipped with the knowledge they offer can provide a credible expert and above all effective contribution to any business Designology the science of connecting a brand to its audience

Popular Music as Promotion Leslie M. Meier, 2017-05-23 Business as usual has been transformed across the music industries in the post CD age Against widespread hype about the purported decline of the major music labels this book provides a critique of the ways these companies have successfully adapted to digital challenges and what is at stake for music makers and for culture Today recording artists are positioned as artist brands and popular music as a product to be licensed by consumer and media brands Leslie M Meier examines key consequences of shifting business models marketing strategies and the new common sense in the music industries the gatekeeping and colonization of popular music by brands Popular Music as Promotion is important reading for students and scholars of media and communication studies cultural studies and sociology and will appeal to anyone interested in new intersections of popular music digital media and promotional culture
