volume is a collection of selected empirical studies on determinants of economic growth and development in Ethiopia. The core argument for editing this book is to provide an up to date picture of the state and patterns of growth and development in Ethiopia. Ethiopia has been under focus in the past due to draughts, war, famine, development changes and the effects of global economic crisis in the country. A main contribution of this volume is that it helps identify selected important determinants of growth and development in Ethiopia and provides an estimation of their effects using up to date data, modelling and methods. Taken together, the studies provide a comprehensive picture of the state of growth and development, their measurements, causal relationships and evaluation of efficient policies and practices in achieving progress in Ethiopia. The issues covered represent major challenges to the government and development organizations who are aiming at achieving higher growth and alleviating poverty in the country. The studies cover transition from rural agriculture to urban industry and the development of services.

Africa's Quest for Modernity Seifudein Adem, 2023-03-13. This monograph addresses the complexity of China-Africa and Japan-Africa relations from a comparative perspective. The volume is divided into five sections. Section I focuses on the divergent perspectives that are reflected in the discourse on China-Africa relations. Section II discusses Japan's economic modernization and its potential lessons for Africa. Section III compares the foreign policies of Japan and China in Africa and analyzes their supposed rivalries on the continent. Section IV explores the relationship between Southeast Asia and China and its relevance to Africa-China relations. Section V provides an in-depth case study of Ethiopia-China relations over the last century. The book fills a major gap in the existing literature on the triad of Africa-China and Japan. Under the guidance of the disciplines of African studies, international relations, political sociology and international political economy, this volume elucidates and examines the complexities of the foreign policies of the two Asian powers toward Africa as well as their economic, political and cultural underpinnings.

Structural Change in Africa Carlos Lopes, George Kararach, 2019-06-25. Debates on African development continue to downplay the achievement of the continent's economic achievements and the perception of a conflict-prone continent continues. Many of the policy prescriptions externally imposed on African countries have done little to transform the continent largely because they have been conceived and applied without context. Using literature from diverse origins, this book expands our knowledge about Africa and makes practical suggestions as to how successful development in a complex yet dynamic continent can be achieved. Widening the policy dialogue and providing alternative thinking on the key elements and full extent of opportunities and challenges towards achieving the socio-economic transformation of Africa, the book moves the debate from the rhetoric to reality. As a considered reflection on the Africa's transformation narrative, it outlines the practical pathways necessary for Africa's sustainable development, providing policy makers and researchers with tested solutions. It will be of interest to all scholars, students and policy professionals working in African development, public policy, international political economy, economic policy and politics.

Adisakwattana, Ian Kendrick Fontanilla, 2020-05-27 Humans are part of an ecosystem and understanding our relationship with the environment and with other organisms is a prerequisite to living together sustainably Zoonotic diseases which are spread between animals and humans are an important issue as they reflect our relationship with other animals in a common environment Zoonoses are still presented with high occurrence rates especially in rural communities with direct and indirect consequences for people In several cases zoonosis could cause severe clinical manifestations and is difficult to control and treat Moreover the persistent use of drugs for infection control enhances the potential of drug resistance and impacts on ecosystem balance and food production This book demonstrates the importance of understanding zoonosis in terms of how it allows ecosystems to transform adapt and evolve Ecohealth One Health approaches recognize the interconnections among people other organisms and their shared developing environment Moreover these holistic approaches encourage stakeholders of various disciplines to collaborate in order to solve problems related to zoonosis The reality of climate change necessitates considering new variables in studying diseases particularly to predict how these changes in the ecosystems can affect human health and how to recognize the boundaries between medicine veterinary care and environmental and social changes towards healthy and sustainable development

Performance of direct seed marketing pilot program in Ethiopia: Lessons for scaling-up Mekonen, Leulseged Kasa, Minot, Nicholas, Warner, James, Abate, Gashaw T., This study evaluates the impact in the main cropping season of 2015 of a new approach to the distribution of improved seed in Ethiopia known as Direct Seed Marketing DSM Under DSM seed producers are allowed to sell seed directly to farmers in contrast to the conventional seed marketing CSM system in which seed passes from seed producers to regional Bureaus of Agriculture to woreda Agricultural Offices to Development Agents cooperative unions and primary cooperatives who in turn sell the seed to farmers The study is based on a survey of 800 farmers 118 agricultural extension workers 75 seed sellers and 24 seed producers in Amhara Oromia Southern Nations Nationalities and Peoples SNNP and Tigray regions The performance of the DSM program in 2015 was evaluated on eight criteria seed availability sufficiency of supply timeliness of delivery seed pricing quality ensuring accountability for low quality seed ease of purchase and use of public resources The results indicate that DSM had heterogeneous effects across the different regions showing the need to strengthen the sharing of experiences with the program across the regions of Ethiopia to scale up DSM s benefits However when we consider the overall DSM program without regional disaggregation the DSM and CSM systems do not differ significantly on most of the eight criteria although DSM required significantly less of the time of the farmer level agricultural extension agents the Development Agents DSM performed as well as CSM across the eight criteria examined while requiring 39 percent less time for the involvement the Development Agents Farmers subjective views of DSM were quite positive On most criteria 50 to 65 percent of farmers said DSM performed better or much better than CSM The study also identifies specific areas where the performance of DSM needs to be improved A review of international experience with seed systems is used to provide some additional recommendations regarding the longer term development of seed systems in Ethiopia

Production choices and nutrition related implications in Ethiopia Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, United Nations Children's Fund, 2018-04-11 The Improved Nutrition through Integrated Basic Social Services with Social Cash Transfer IN SCT is a three year pilot programme implemented by the Government of Ethiopia with funding from UNICEF and Irish Aid The programme started in the end of 2015 and currently covers two districts woredas in each of the following regions Oromia and the Southern Nations Nationalities and Peoples Region SNNP The IN SCT is an integral part of the Productive Safety Net Programme PSNP in the latter s fourth phase 2015 2018 The IN SCT programme aims to enhance access to social services by fostering co responsibilities for two groups of PNSP clients Permanent Direct Support clients receiving 12 months of transfers per year and Temporary Direct Support clients Public Works clients who are temporarily transitioning to the Direct Support components based on certain circumstances such as being pregnant or lactating or being a caretaker of a malnourished child and are receiving six months of cash transfers with soft conditionalities The IN SCT programme expands the PSNP4 by offering an integrated package of multi sectoral nutrition services In SNNP the programme supports the nutrition sensitive interventions under PSNP and also undertakes activities to improve the quality of health services offered In Oromia a less intensive version of the IN SCT programme is being implemented This report aims to show how production choices are linked to nutrition and consumption behaviour To do so we first provide a snapshot of the rural livelihoods in the SNNP region by focusing on outcomes that allow us to gauge the economic and productive impacts of the IN SCT including agricultural production and other income generating activities labour supply the accumulation of productive assets and access to credit and transfers We then link some of these outcomes to indicators such as food consumption and household dietary diversity and study their patterns across the outcome distributions We provide descriptive statistics from the baseline household survey conducted for the evaluation of the IN SCT Pilot Programme in SNNP region A baseline survey for the impact evaluation including both quantitative and qualitative components was conducted April May 2016 in both SNNP and Oromia regions though the sample for Oromia has not been included in the study given the lack of a comparison group and the absence of nutrition sensitive agricultural interventions

Understanding urban consumers' food choice behavior in Ethiopia: Promoting demand for healthy foods Melesse, Mequanint B., Van den berg, Marrit, de Brauw, Alan, Abate, Gashaw T., 2019-04-04 Using survey data collected from 996 representative households in Addis Ababa Ethiopia this paper documents several insights to help understand urban consumer food purchasing and consumption choices The findings can be summarized as follows 1 We find that households face important dietary gaps a large proportion eats insufficient amounts of nutrient dense vegetables animal source foods and fruits 2 The consumption of ultra processed foods increases with income and may become a pressing health concern as incomes rise 3 From a purchasing perspective we find that consumers buy foods for different purposes at different outlets Nearby kiosks and informal street markets are frequented for small food items and for fruits and vegetables while formal open markets and consumer cooperatives are used for bulky food items 4 Respondents make food and food outlet choices based on their health and food safety concerns but few consider the nutritional value of food when purchasing it Concurrently the availability of a wide variety of healthy and safe foods is highly valued by most respondents for outlet choice Among consumers in lower income categories they tend to make food and food outlet choices based on prices and location convenience 5 Although nutrition is not a primary concern when making choices about food consumers appear to have reasonable nutritional knowledge Most respondents considered a healthy diet to be primarily plant based Most people are aware that they should eat more fruits and vegetables and less sugary fatty and salty foods but they have limited knowledge on the nutrient content of specific foods and the causes of obesity 6 Labelling would not be an effective way to increase nutritional knowledge most respondents have limited understanding of the information that labels provide Rather most respondents trust the information provided by health professionals over other sources In sum these results are potentially relevant for policy and the design of future programs for improving nutritional outcomes through enhanced diets

Emerging Infectious Diseases ,2015-07 National tuberculosis prevalence surveys: what diagnostic algorithms should be used in future? World Health Organization,2023-05-19 Global Nutrition Report 2015 International Food Policy Research Institute,2015-09-15 As we move into the post 2015 era of the Sustainable Development Goals SDGs the world faces many seemingly intractable problems Malnutrition should not be one of them Countries that are determined to make rapid advances in malnutrition reduction can do so If governments want to achieve the SDG target of ending all forms of malnutrition by 2030 they have clear pathways to follow There are many levers to pull and this report provides many examples of countries that have done so Tackling malnutrition effectively is also key to meeting many other SDG targets Good nutrition signals the realization of people s rights to food and health It reflects a narrowing of the inequalities in our world Without good nutrition human beings cannot achieve their full potential When people s nutrition status improves it helps break the intergenerational cycle of poverty generates broad based economic growth and leads to a host of benefits for individuals families communities and countries Good nutrition provides both a foundation for human development and the scaffolding needed to ensure it reaches its full potential Good nutrition in short is an essential driver of sustainable development
