

I. INTRODUCTION

This manual contains information on the Michel MX11, manufactured by TKM, INC. The information includes operation, mechanical and electrical descriptions and alignment and test considerations.

A. PURPOSE OF EQUIPMENT

The equipment is a 760 channel communication transceiver for use in aviation services. The MX11 is designed to be used as a direct replacement for the Narco COM11 and similar units. The unit is dimensionally identical to the Narco units and can therefore use existing aircraft installations. Except for improved performance characteristics, the unit is electrically interchangeable with the Narco unit and will provide the proper audio signals for existing installations.

Some variations of the Narco COM 11's have provisions for different types of intercoms. Optional components may be added to the audio circuits to accommodate these variations and are described in the Theory of Operations section.

Since the equipment is intended for replacement, it is not supplied with a mounting tray. Mounting trays are available as an option.
