Morisset,2024-02-14 The Routledge Handbook of Heritage and the Law sheds light on the relationship between the two fields and analyses how the law shapes heritage and heritage practice in both expected and unexpected ways Including contributions from 41 authors working across a range of jurisdictions the volume analyses the law as a transnational phenomenon and uses international and comparative legal methodologies to distil lessons for broad application Demonstrating that the law is fundamentally a language of power and contestation the Handbook shows how this impacts our views of heritage It also shows that to understand the ways in which the law impacts key aspects of heritage practice it is important to tap into the possibilities of heritage as points of convergence of identity struggles over resources and the distribution of power Framing heritage as a driver for legal engagement rather than a passive regulatory object the book first reviews the legal fields or mechanisms that can shape action in the heritage field then questions how these enable authority and give power to those who seize heritage and finally envisions how the discussion between heritage and the law can lay new grounds in both those fields Lifting the mists that often render the law opaque in heritage studies the Handbook showcases the law as a medium through which the culture and the power of heritage are expressed and might be shared The Routledge Handbook of Heritage and the Law presents a view of the law that is aimed at those who wish to reflect on how law has changed or could change what heritage is and how it can support social cultural local or other development It will be of interest to scholars students policymakers and practitioners working in the areas of museum studies heritage studies and urban studies as well as in cultural intervention and planning Chapter 8 of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license Chapter 18 of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license Chapter 34 of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons CC BY 4.0 license The

Routledge Handbook of Heritage and the Law Lucas Lixinski Lucie.taylorfrancis.com Introducing Anthropological Economics Sujay Rao Mandavilli, This paper attempts to merge the concepts and theoretical frameworks of the disciplines of Anthropology and Economics and attempts to create a new sub field in Economics called Anthropological Economics which is mired in Anthropological concepts and principles and seeks to maximize not only human welfare and happiness but also wealth maximization across cultures while considering both the psychic unity of man universal human needs and culture specific factors Thus Anthropological Economics is expected to be inter related to other disciplines of Economics but remain complementary to them i.e. it is not expected that it will intrude into other sub fields of economics replace them or override their principles in any way It will therefore draw upon other aspects of economic theory and enrich them suitably It is therefore expected that all aspects of Economic theory will be taken into consideration for policy formulation and decision making including those of Anthropological economics and independent context specific judgment will always be applied The new proposed field of Anthropological Economics proposes to take the idea of Human Welfare to its logical conclusion by extending the work already carried out in various sub disciplines of economics and integrating it more tightly with various concepts in Anthropology Many new tools and techniques are therefore proposed as a part of this paper and we believe these will suitably enrich the field of Economics as well While many attempts have been made in the past to integrate the fields of Anthropology and Economics we hope this endeavour will take this exercise to a much higher level by creating a new generation of Anthroeconomists We also hope it will eventually help move mainstream economics away from Neo classical
