Experimental Econophysics Ji-Ping Huang, 2014-08-05 Experimental Econophysics describes the method of controlled human experiments which is developed by physicists to study some problems in economics or finance namely stylized facts fluctuation phenomena herd behavior contrarian behavior hedge behavior cooperation business cycles partial information risk management and stock prediction Experimental econophysics together with empirical econophysics are two branches of the field of econophysics The latter one has been extensively discussed in the existing books while the former one has been seldom touched In this book the author will focus on the branch of experimental econophysics Empirical econophysics is based on the analysis of data in real markets by using some statistical tools borrowed from traditional statistical physics Differently inspired by the role of controlled experiments and system modelling for computer simulations and or analytical theory in developing modern physics experimental econophysics specially relies on controlled human experiments in the laboratory producing data for analysis together with agent based modelling for computer simulations and or analytical theory with an aim at revealing the general cause effect relationship between specific parameters and emergent properties of real economic financial markets This book covers the basic concepts experimental methods modelling approaches and latest progress in the field of experimental econophysics Investing with the Trend Gregory L. Morris, 2013-12-31 Investing with the Trend provides an abundance of evidence for adapting a rules based approach to investing by offering something most avoid and that is to answer the why one would do it this way It explains the need to try to participate in the good markets and avoid the bad markets with cash being considered an asset class The book is in three primary sections and tries to leave no stone unturned in offering almost 40 years of experience in the markets Part I The focus is on much of the misinformation in modern finance the inappropriate use of Gaussian statistics the faulty assumptions with Modern Portfolio Theory and a host of other examples The author attempts to explain each and offer justification for his often strong opinions Part II After a lead chapter on the merits of technical analysis the author offers detailed research into trend analysis showing how to identify if a market is trending or not and how to measure it Further research involves the concept of Drawdown which the author adamantly states is a better measure of investor risk than the oft used and terribly wrong use of volatility as determined by standard deviation Part III This is where he puts it all together and shows the reader all of the steps and details on how to create a rules based trend following investment strategy A solid disciplined strategy consists of three parts a measure of what the market is actually doing a set of rules and guidelines to tell you how to invest based upon that measurement and the discipline to follow the strategy Derivatives , Investment Strategies Optimization based on a SAX-GA Methodology António M.L. Canelas,Rui F.M.F. Neves,Nuno Horta,2012-09-28 This book presents a new computational finance approach combining a Symbolic Aggregate approximation SAX technique with an optimization kernel based on genetic algorithms GA While the SAX representation is used to describe the financial time series the evolutionary optimization kernel is used in order to identify the most relevant patterns and generate investment rules The proposed approach considers several different chromosomes structures in order to achieve better results on the trading platform The methodology presented in this book has great potential on investment markets Multicriteria Environmental Assessment Nolberto Munier,2007-05-08 The purpose of this book is to analyze with actual examples different techniques that have been developed to tackle the complex task of making an Environmental Impact Assessment EIA of a project A project may influence the lives of many people can change the physical environment temporarily or forever and creates benefits or losses not only for the people who promoted it but also for those not related whatsoever with the project Thus its assessment is not only a commercial evaluation of gains and losses but it goes far beyond that for it also has to appraise how people s way of life will be affected how significant the alteration produced in the social fabric will be what the result will be of using certain renewable and non renewable resources how much the expected economic development will cost in terms of loss of resources sustainability how to measure what is not easily measurable enjoying a sunset a stroll in a tropical forest climbing a mountain etc and how to integrate the technical and environmental aspects of projects with the desires wishes and needs of the population
