Infrastructural Attachments Emma Park, 2024-10-11 Set against critiques of neoliberal capitalism in the present Infrastructural Attachments argues that the technopolitics of austerity have been the organizing logic of statecraft in Kenya since the late nineteenth century calling into question the novelty of austerity as a mode of governance and a lived experience Using infrastructures as a lens to explore state formation over the long twentieth century roads in the early colonial period radio broadcasting from the interwar through the postwar periods and mobile phones and digital financial services in the present historian Emma Park reveals that as the state drew on private capital to make up for limited budgets it inaugurated a peculiar political economic form the corporate state For more than a century in pursuit of minimizing costs and maximizing profits the corporate state crucially relied on the exploitation and expropriation of its subject citizens By foregrounding these workers Park interrogates how Kenyans knowledge and expertise has been rescaled and subsumed quietly underwriting the development of infrastructural expertise the circuits of finance upon which post colonial infrastructural expansion has been premised and the forms of profit making it has enabled The Railpolitik Yuan Wang,2024-02-07 This book uses three case studies of Chinese financed and constructed rail projects to explore the growing presence of China in Africa and its relationship to African domestic politics It shows that the success of these projects relies on African political championship and that they are used to demonstrate rulers legitimacy

Technology and Urbanism in Late Bronze Age Egypt Anna K. Hodgkinson,2017-12-01 This book provides the first systematic and comprehensive discussion of the intra urban distribution of high status goods and their production or role as a marker of the nature of the settlements known as royal cities of New Kingdom Egypt c 1550 1069 BC Using spatial analysis to detect patterns of artefact distribution the study focuses on Amarna Gurob and Malqata incorporating Qantir Pi Ramesse for comparison Being royal cities these three settlements had a great need for luxury goods Such items were made of either highly valuable materials or materials that were not easily produced and therefore required a certain set of skills Specifically the industries discussed are those of glass faience metal sculpture and textiles Analysis of the evidence of high status industrial processes throughout the urban settlements has demonstrated that industrial activities took place in institutionalized buildings in houses of the elite and also in small domestic complexes This leads to the conclusion that materials were processed at different levels throughout the settlements and were subject to a strict pattern of control The methodological approach to each settlement necessarily varies depending on the nature and quality of the available data By examining the distribution of high status or luxury materials in addition to archaeological and artefactual evidence of their production a deeper understanding has been achieved of how industries were organized and how they influenced urban life in New Kingdom Egypt Developments in Information & Knowledge Management for Business Applications Natalia

Smart Economy in Smart Cities T. M. Vinod Kumar, 2016-08-25 The present book highlights studies that show how smart cities promote urban economic development The book surveys the state of the art of Smart City Economic Development through a literature survey The book uses 13 in depth city research case studies in 10 countries such as the North America Europe Africa and Asia to explain how a smart economy changes the urban spatial system and vice versa This book focuses on exploratory city studies in different countries which investigate how urban spatial systems adapt to the specific needs of smart urban economy The theory of smart city economic development is not yet entirely understood and applied in metropolitan regional plans Smart urban economies are largely the result of the influence of ICT applications on all aspects of urban economy which in turn changes the land use system It points out that the dynamics of smart city GDP creation takes different paths which need further empirical study hypothesis testing and mathematical modelling Although there are hypotheses on how smart cities generate wealth and social benefits for nations there are no significant empirical studies available on how they generate urban economic development through urban spatial adaptation This book with 13 cities research studies is one attempt to fill in the gap in knowledge base

Handbook of Research on Nurturing Industrial Economy for Africa's Development Nafukho, Frederick Muyia, Boniface Makulilo, Alexander, 2021-03-19 A robust manufacturing sector is a necessity and a sufficient condition for any country's human and economic development as it creates employment and alleviates poverty During this Fourth Industrial Revolution era there is an urgent need in Africa to optimally utilize the existing resources to support manufacturing or else risk allowing the continent to fall behind in the industrial economy Innovative strategies are needed that can unlock Africa's manufacturing potential by exploring key areas that may help Africa mature and launch modernized economies that will benefit the developed world's industrial economy. The Handbook of Research on Nurturing Industrial Economy for Africa's Development examines various innovations necessary for Africa's economic development including drivers of the manufacturing economy such as education, agriculture, human capital, science and technological innovations, language, politics and business environments. The book explores strategies to increase Africa's economic diversity, complexity, productivity and ultimately competitiveness and for the continent to realize its manufacturing industrial potential. Further chapters focus on African countries' industrial economies in the African context and facilitating the fulfillment of the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) and the African Union's Agenda 2063. This book is a valuable reference tool for government officials, economists, industrialists, practitioners, stakeholders, researchers, academicians and students interested in the industrial economic development of Africa.
