Context in Action and How to Study It Ninna Meier, Sue Dopson, 2019-06-20 Context is a central concept in organization and management studies yet it is often used in a generalized unspecific manner This book offers an interactionist view on context as a dynamic relational and socially enacted phenomenon It explores context in action and the theoretical methodological and analytical consequences of this approach through a collection of reflections and research experiences from the dynamic field of health care In the opening chapters the editors present their framework for studying context in action and outline three main approaches centered on the following questions What constitutes context for a phenomenon or an event How do actors understand experience and engage with context How do contexts change and what is the role of actors in such processes Context and action are then explored through a range of topics such as enactment and organizational change policy implementation executive work strategic change materiality technology patients and relatives perspectives integrated care quality improvement and health care support work Relevant to both management researchers and practitioners this volume provides a definition of context as theoretical construct based on interactionist and process based perspectives and a practical framework for studying context in action which the reader can use in their own work

Communities in Action Graeme Johanson, Larry Stillman, 2009-05-05 ICTs have become a very powerful community resource viewed by many authors in this volume as two way mechanisms facilitating the perpetuation of and reflecting esteemed community values The contents of this volume make it clear that ICTs have a huge capacity for incorporation into different forms of community action including social change community learning community connection and community development Through studying the papers in this volume readers can learn about multiple forms of ICTs and action and how action is understood and improve their grasp of the complexities of social technical relations The chapters in this volume began life as papers at the Conference on Community Informatics prospects for communities and action in 2007 the fourth successful community informatics conference held at the Monash University Centre Prato Italy This book creates a platform for exchanging experiences case studies and possible solutions to address the difficulties in deploying ICT in many contexts and will be of interest to all researchers and practitioners who engage with ICT particularly those in the community and developmental informatics field

Biotechnology Organizations in Action J. Norus, 2002-03-06 This volume analyzes the dynamics and interactive processes among the players individuals institutions and organizations firms that have constituted and legitimized the development of the biotechnology industries The unit of analysis is small entrepreneurial firms developing biotechnological products and processes What types of strategies are small entrepreneurs pursuing in order to create markets for their new products and processes and how have specific strategies emerged The primary interest is the network process through which the technological field and the development of institutions and routines evolve and co evolve The theoretical contribution of the book is its focus on the development of the concept of networks From being regarded as a relative static concept the book transforms the concept into a dynamic concept of networking The dynamic view on the creation and development of new technologies through network formations is linked to the concept of strategy that is used throughout the book Hence the strategies are developed along with the creation of technological knowledge and it is hoped that the diffusion of this specific knowledge will bring new actors into the technological arena or community This book will be useful to the academic community those studying the formation of networks strategic management organizational behavior and management of technology as well as business observers with a specific interest in the evolution of the biotechnology industry
