Network Editor and Node Editor

The Network Editor and Node Editor are 2 network building tools closely linked to each other. With these tools, a user can define the topology of a network and configure it. The Tellabs 8000 intelligent manager can also set up routing protocols. With the templates provided by the Node Manager, it is possible to set parameters for large amounts of network elements efficiently; it also supports the network element auto-discovery and consistency check of network element configuration against information stored in the database.
