Zim Greenbook For Science:

Gender, Politics and Land Use in Zimbabwe 1980–2012 Mafa, Onias, Gudhlanga, Enna S., 2015-10-19 The agrarian reform dynamics in southern Africa have to be understood within the framework of colonial land policies and legislation that were designed essentially to expropriate land and natural resource property rights from the indigenous people in favour of the white settlers Colonial land policies institutionalised racial inequity with regard to land although conditions are not homogeneous there are broad themes that cut across the southern Africa region Colonialism dispossessed and impoverished the people by taking away the most productive lands Neoliberal globalization has undermined the people's well being through direct influences on agriculture and rural economies in conjunction with policies promoted by national governments and international agencies Another shared feature is to be found in the high rates of unemployment poor returns to small scale agriculture lack of access to social services such as health and education all of which serve to erode existing livelihood activities and perpetuate relative and absolute poverty in rural areas This comparative study on Zimbabwe's agrarian reforms may provide countries such as South Africa and Namibia with valuable lessons as they attempt their own land reforms Conflicts between colonialists and the indigenous people in the then Rhodesia centred mainly on the land question This inequitable distribution of land resulted in Africans waging liberation struggles in order to reclaim their land from the colonialists In most post colonial countries calls have been made for land redistribution as a way of redressing colonial injustices in land tenure systems The process of reclamation of land and redistributing it to the indigenous people is fraught with problems and has resulted in the present day land crisis in many parts of Africa and other continents These are some of the issues this book examines attempts to understand and explain from a gender perspective Gender relations are viewed in terms of land use and ownership in pre colonial colonial and post colonial Zimbabwe These socially constructed roles have been found to be unequal in terms of power and decision making It is argued that lessening of social inequalities between men and women reduces poverty raises farm efficiency and improves natural resource management The book emphasizes that once women are empowered the quality of life of their households improves Science Books for Boys and Girls - a Bibliography - February 1952 United States. Office of Education, 1952 Land and Agrarian Reform in Zimbabwe Sam Moyo, Walter Chambati, 2013 The Fast Track Land Reform Programme implemented during the 2000s in Zimbabwe represents the only instance of radical redistributive land reforms since the end of the Cold War It reversed the racially skewed agrarian structure and discriminatory land tenures inherited from colonial rule The land reform also radicalised the state towards a nationalist introverted accumulation strategy against a broad array of unilateral Western sanctions Indeed Zimbabwe's land reform in its social and political dynamics must be compared to the leading land reforms of the twentieth century which include those of Mexico Russia China Japan South Korea Taiwan Cuba and Mozambique The fact that the Zimbabwe case has not been recognised as vanguard nationalism has much to do with the intellectual structural adjustment which has accompanied neoliberalism and a hostile media campaign This has entailed dubious theories of neopatrimonialism which reduce African politics and the state to endemic corruption patronage and tribalism while overstating the virtues of neoliberal good governance Under this racist repertoire it has been impossible to see class politics mass mobilisation and resistance let alone believe that something progressive can occur in Africa This book comes to a conclusion that the Zimbabwe land reform represents a new form of resistance with distinct and innovative characteristics when compared to other cases of radicalisation reform and resistance The process of reform and resistance has entailed the deliberate creation of a tri modal agrarian structure to accommodate and balance the interests of various domestic classes the progressive restructuring of labour relations and agrarian markets the continuing pressures for radical reforms through the indigenisation of mining and other sectors and the rise of extensive albeit relatively weak producer cooperative structures The book also highlights some of the resonances between the Zimbabwean land struggles and those on the continent as well as in the South in general arguing that there are some convergences and divergences worthy of intellectual attention The book thus calls for greater endogenous empirical research which overcomes the pre occupation with failed interpretations of the nature of the state and agency in Africa

Youth and Higher Education in Africa. The Cases of Cameroon, South Africa, Eritrea and Zimbabwe Donald P. Chimanihire,2009 Student activism in Africa at least since the early 1990s has been preoccupied with popular struggles for democracy in both their respective countries and institutions of higher learning The changing socio economic and political conditions in many African countries characterized by the decline in economic growth and the introduction of multi party politics among several other factors have had different impact on students and student political organizations in African universities This book recounts the responses of students to these changes in their attempt to negotiate better living and studying conditions The four case studies contained in the book Cameroon South Africa Zimbabwe and Eritrea clearly reveal the very important aspects of the situation in which African students find themselves in many countries and underscores the need to understand the character and development of higher education on the continent Ministries of Higher Education Vice Chancellors Deans of Students Student Unions and parents will find this book very useful in terms of understanding the tensions that often arise at institutions of higher learning and why solutions seem to be elusive Walford's Guide to

Small Bodies of Water Nina Mingya Powles, 2021-08-05 Remarkable Robert Macfarlane Gorgeous Amy Liptrot Urgent and nourishing Jessica J Lee Nina Mingya Powles first learned to swim in Borneo where her mother was born and her grandfather studied freshwater fish There the local swimming pool became her first body of water Through her life there have been others that have meant different things but have still been in their own way home from the wild coastline of New Zealand to a pond in northwest London In lyrical powerful prose Small Bodies of Water weaves together memories dreams and nature writing Exploring everything from migration food family earthquakes and the ancient lunisolar calendar Nina reflects on a girlhood spent growing up between two cultures and what it means to belong The Trouble with Aid Jonathan

Glennie, 2009-04-15 Africa is poor If we send it money it will be less poor It seems perfectly logical doesn't it Millions of people in the rich world moved by images on television and appalled by the miserable conditions endured by so many in other countries have joined campaigns to persuade their governments to double aid to Africa and help put an end to such shameful inequality It seems simple But it isn't In this book Jonathan Glennie argues that along with its many benefits government aid to Africa has often meant more poverty more hungry people worse basic services and damage to already precarious democratic institutions Moreover calls for more aid are drowning out pressure for action that would really make a difference for Africa's poor Rather than doubling aid to Africa it is time to reduce aid dependency Through an honest assessment of both the positive and negative consequences of aid this book will show you why Catalog of Copyright Entries. Copyright Office, 1979 Against the Odds Mary Ndlovu, 2013-05-13 1978 In Rhodesia the Internal Settlement led to the creation of a coalition government Smith had however neither capitulated nor abandoned his belief in white superiority and thousands of people fled across the countrys borders In England a group of missionaries supported by the Catholic Institute for International Relations formed a steering group that was to become the Zimbabwe Project Originally an educational fund to support exiled young Zimbabweans it shifted focus toward humanitarian assistance to refugees in the region 1981 The Zimbabwe Project Trust a child of the war This lively book interrogates the African postcolonial condition with a focus on the thematics of liberation predicament and the long standing crisis of dependence epistemological cultural economic and political created by colonialism and coloniality A sophisticated deployment of historical philosophical and political knowledge in combination with the equi primordial concepts of coloniality of power coloniality of being and coloniality of knowledge yields a comprehensive and truly refreshing understanding of African realities of subalternity How global imperial designs and coloniality of power shaped the architecture of African social formations and disciplined the social forces towards a convoluted postcolonial neocolonized paralysis dominated by myths of decolonization and illusions of freedom emerges poignantly in this important book What distinguishes this book is its decolonial entry that enables a critical examination of the grammar of decolonization that is often wrongly conflated with that of emancipation bold engagement with the intractable question of what and who is an African systematic explication of the role of coloniality in sustaining Euro American hegemony and unmasking of how the postcolonial is interlocked with the neocolonial paradoxically It is within this context that the postcolonial African state emerges as a leviathan and the postcolonial reality becomes a terrain of contradictions mediated by the logic of violence No doubt Sabelo Ndlovu Gatsheni's handling of complex concepts and difficult questions of the day is remarkable particularly the decoding and mixing of complex theoretical interventions from Africa and Latin America to enlighten the present without losing historical perspicacity To buttress the theoretical arguments detailed empirical case studies of South Africa Zimbabwe DRC and Namibia completes this timely contribution to African Studies Reimagining Justice, Human Rights and Leadership in Africa Everisto Benyera, 2019-08-08 Failed attempts in Africa to develop democratise and instil virtues of a just state and society which promote benevolent leadership and advance political and economic rights and freedoms call for a new imagination By exploring a wide range of issues concerning justice human rights and leadership this book makes two major contributions to the extant literature in each of these areas Firstly as a project in decoloniality it constitutes an epistemic break from mainstream logics and approaches to understanding state society and development in Africa presenting an approach that is filtered through a Euro American lens that reifies the hegemony of a particular spatio temporality In other words it emphasises the importance of situatedness by thinking from rather than about or with Africa And secondly it addresses a fundamental shortcoming in decolonial thought which is often criticised for rejecting western paradigms of thought without providing viable alternatives The issues covered include state failure in Africa the geopolitics of US and NATO military interventions on the continent individual states responses to international law indigenous moral political leadership authentic inclusion of marginalised voices in development practice an endogenous approach to environmental ethics and a spiritualist reflection on the need for Africa to chart her own course to political social and economic redemption By searching for alternative paths to justice human rights and leadership this book represents an effort to actualise the core vision of the African Renaissance to find African solutions for African problems Walford's Guide to Reference Material: Social and historical sciences, philosophy and religion Alan Day, Marilyn Mullay, Priscilla Schlicke, Joan M.
