Vision And Visual Perception The Conscious Base Of Seeing:

Vision and Visual Perception Duco A. Schreuder, 2014-12-03 Vision is about insight and visual perception is about cognition and they form the foundation of how we see the world Duco A Schreuder a physicist and psychologist explores the finer details of each in this groundbreaking book that explores human consciousness and perception Sharing virtually everything he s learned over a varied career spanning more than sixty years he examines a wide array of topics including how we understand what we visually process how we store and retrieve information the role that neurons play in how what we see and much more While Schreuder isn t afraid to disagree with other leading thinkers he relies on science and focuses on the facts behind it so you can understand lighting visual perception engineering design and applied and experimental physics Looking is about insight whereas seeing is about knowledge and you need to know how each one works to truly understand how humanity views the world Whether you re an illuminating engineer considering the fundamentals of the trade or a student or professional in an allied discipline you ll be well served by taking a closer look at Vision and Visual Perception

Documenting Syria Josepha Ivanka Wessels, 2019-07-11 Syria is now one of the most important countries in the world for the documentary film industry Since the 1970s Syrian cinema masters played a defining role in avant garde filmmaking and political dissent against authoritarianism After the outbreak of violence in 2011 an estimated 500 000 video clips were uploaded making it one of the first YouTubed revolutions in history This book is the first history of documentary filmmaking in Syria Based on extensive media ethnography and in depth interviews with Syrian filmmakers in exile the book offers an archival analysis of the documentary work by masters of Syrian cinema such as Nabil Maleh Ossama Mohammed Mohammed Malas Hala Al Abdallah Hanna Ward Ali Atassi and Omar Amiralay Joshka Wessels traces how the works of these filmmakers became iconic for a new generation of filmmakers at the beginning of the 21st century and maps the radical change in the documentary landscape after the revolution of 2011 Special attention is paid to the late Syrian filmmaker and pro democracy activist Bassel Shehadeh and the video resistance from Aleppo and Raqqa against the regime of President Bashar al Assad and the Islamic State An essential resource for scholars of Syrian Studies this book will also be highly relevant to the fields of media conflict research anthropology and political science

Mark Smith, 2001 Sometime between 1028 and 1038 Ibn al Haytham completed his monumental optical synthesis Kitab al Manazir Book of Optics By no later than 1200 and perhaps somewhat earlier this treatise appeared in Latin under the title De aspectibus In that form it was attributed to a certain Alhacen These differences in title and authorial designation are indicative of the profound differences between the two versions Arabic and Latin of the treatise In many ways in fact they can be regarded not simply as different versions of the same work but as different works in their own right Accordingly the Arab author Ibn al Haytham and his Latin incarnation Alhacen represent two distinct sometimes even conflicting interpretive voices And the same holds for their respective texts To complicate matters Alhacen does not represent a single interpretive voice There were at least two translators at work on the Latin text one of them adhering faithfully to the Arabic original the other content with distilling even paraphrasing the Arabic original Consequently the Latin text presents not one but at least two faces to the reader This two volume critical edition represents fourteen years of work on Dr Smith's part Awarded the 2001 J F Lewis Award Thinking and Seeing Daniel T. Levin, 2004 A collection in which the contributors draw on diverse areas of cognitive science to examine the difference between actual and presumed visual cognition Vision Rehabilitation Penelope S. Postcinematic Vision Roger F. Cook, 2020-03-10 A study of how film has continually intervened in our sense of perception with far ranging insights into the current state of lived experience How has cinema transformed our senses and how does it continue to do so Positing film as a stage in the long coevolution of human consciousness and visual technology Postcinematic Vision offer a fresh perspective on the history of film while providing startling new insights into the so called divide between cinematic and digital media Starting with the argument that film viewing has long altered neural circuitry in our brains Roger F Cook proceeds to reevaluate film s origins as well as its merger with digital imaging in the 1990s His animating argument is that film has continually altered the relation between media and human perception challenging the visual nature of modern culture in favor of a more unified pan sensual way of perceiving Through this approach he makes original contributions to our understanding of how mediation is altering lived experience Along the way Cook provides important reevaluations of well known figures such as Franz Kafka closely reading cinematic passages in the great author's work he reassesses the conventional wisdom that Marshall McLuhan was a technological determinist and he lodges an original new reading of The Matrix Full of provocative and far reaching ideas Postcinematic Vision is a powerful work that helps us see old concepts anew while providing new ideas for future investigation
