Public Art (Now) Claire Doherty,2015-03-09 Public Art Now Out of Time Out of Place is the first survey of progressive public art from around the world It presents some of the most significant artworks in the public realm from the last decade challenging preconceptions about where when and how public art takes place The face of public art is changing For decades art in the public realm has been characterized by the landmark sculpture or spectacular outdoor event that helps to define or brand a place But in recent years a new wave of international artists and producers has rejected the monumental scale and mass appeal of such artworks Instead these individuals and groups favour unconventional forms that unsettle rather than authenticate a place s identity disrupt rather than embellish a particular location and contest rather than validate the design and function of public space Performed interactions collaborative social movements and small scale subversive acts are just some of the unorthodox approaches taken by these artists Their works challenge preconceived ideas about the role of art in place making as they seek to remake places through radical forms and practices Public Art Now Out of Time Out of Place presents the artists who have been redefining the practice of public art over the past decade They directly address the most pressing issues of our time including the encroachment of corporate concerns on public space the implications of global migration and the isolation of the individual and the potential of collective action to share the future of our towns and cities Some forty key works from around the world are organized into five sections Displacement Intervention Disorientation Occupation and Perpetuation with detailed descriptions and dozens of installation and process shots Interviews and quotes from practitioners commissioners and commentators reveal the impetus and context for the projects while the editor s introduction sets out the conceptual practical and ethical issues raised by the works Bringing together the most significant artworks in the public realm of the last ten years from ephemeral interventions to long term ongoing projects this dynamic survey is an essential reference for anyone interested in the ideas issues and impulses behind progressive public art and an accessible introduction to one of the most vibrant areas of contemporary art

Mapping Out the Research-policy Matrix Germán Solinís,Nicolas Baya-Laffite,2011-01-01 Social science research provides not only abstract conceptual knowledge about society but also concrete instrumental knowledge It enables us to take action to recompose the world we live in However this book rejects narrow and simplistic conceptions of research use and its impact on policy making to embrace a more complex approach to seeing and dealing with social science In the paradigm of evidence based policy evidence is understood in its broad sense as information that helps form policies Nonetheless within current practices and discourse it is not clear what information is what is really meant by evidence and how it can be obtained objectively The book draws on papers presented at the International Forum on the Social Science Policy Nexus where experts examined current practices and problems in areas such as social policy migration urban policies and globalisation The Forum set a precedent in terms of dialogue between researchers and policy makers The authors contribute to enriching and elucidating the most common conceptualisations of the research policy nexus They represent a rich diversity of views although most agree that an effective strategy to enhance social science policy linkages should be underpinned by a theoretical and methodological framework that takes into account the interplay of different social actors
