A new standard model of cosmology: Time-varying fundamental constants and the evolution of the universe F. Bakalian, 2024-01-01 A new theoretical framework is presented to explain the evolution of the universe based on the time varying properties of the fundamental constants A static universe with time varying constants can explain the origin of the cosmic microwave background radiation CMB anisotropies the CMB cold spot the observed redshift distance modulus data the origin and composition of dark matter in the universe galaxy cluster mass estimates Milky Way galaxy luminosity estimates population II stellar properties vacuum photon interactions energy cycling between matter radiation and vacuum field components time varying Higgs mechanism and particle mass and the observed matter antimatter dichotomy This is a complete theoretical framework that explains the observable universe and resolves many of the issues with modern day cosmology Zones of Stars J.
