Water Management Challenges in Global Change B. Ulanicki,Kalanithy Vairavamoorthy,David Butler,Peter L. M. Bounds,Fayyaz Ali Memon,2020-11-26 Water Management Challenges in Global Change contains the proceedings of the 9th Computing and Control for the Water Industry CCWI2007 and the Sustainable Urban Water Management SUWM2007 conferences The rationale behind these conferences is to improve the management of urban water systems through the development of computerbased methods Issues such as economic globalisation climate changes and water shortages call for a new approach to water systems management which addresses the relevant technical social and economic aspects This collection represents the views of academic and industrial experts from a number of countries who provide technical solutions to current water management problems and present a vision for addressing the global questions The themes underlying many of the contributions include energy and material savings water savings and the integration of different aspects of water management The papers are grouped into three themes covering water distribution systems sustainable urban water management and modelling of wastewater treatment plants The water distribution topics cover asset and information management planning monitoring and control hydraulic modelling of steady state and transients water quality and treatment demand and leakage management optimisation design and decision support systems as well as reliability and security of water distribution systems The sustainable urban water management topics include urban drainage systems water reuse social aspects of water management and also selected facets of water resources and irrigation Computer control of wastewater treatment plants has been seen as less advanced than that of clean water systems To address this imbalance this book presents a number of modelling techniques developed specifically for these plants Water Management Challenges in Global Change will prove to be invaluable to water and environmental engineering researchers and academics managers engineers and planners and postgraduate students Turfgrass and Landscape Irrigation Water Quality Robert Carrow,Ronny R. Duncan,Michael T. Huck,2008-12-17 With the increased use of alternative irrigation water sources on turfgrass and landscape sites their management is becoming more complex and whole ecosystems oriented Yet few turfgrass managers have received formal training in the intricacies of irrigation water Turfgrass and Landscape Irrigation Water Quality Assessment and Management provides a comprehensive science based review of irrigation water quality The book examines field problems in a logical manner provides clear scientific explanations and offers detailed practical information for resolving each specific problem in an environmentally sustainable manner Divided into four parts the book begins with an overview of the assessment of irrigation water It discusses factors that affect the quality of water assists readers in understanding irrigation water quality tests and examines field monitoring The second part focuses on explaining scientific

irrigation water quality situations or challenges associated with various water sources including saline seawater and reclaimed irrigation water as well as stormwater reuse The next section explores management options for site specific problems The authors discuss irrigation system design when confronted with poor quality water salt leaching water acidification and turfgrass nutritional considerations and discusses lake pond and stream management and other water issues Lastly the text addresses potential environmental concerns related to irrigation water sources on the watershed landscape level The book contains several case studies which further clarify the material and provides a comprehensive appendix list of landscape plants and their relative salinity tolerances The diversity and nature of various water quality related challenges are quite daunting even for the most seasoned professional This volume provides a foundation for understanding the complexities of water quality that is certain to lead to science based management decisions that are environmentally friendly and sustainable for years to come
