Arnstein writing in 1969 about citizen involvement in planning processes in the United States described a ladder of citizen participation that showed participation ranging from low to high Arnstein depicted the failings of typical participation processes at the time and characterized aspirations toward engagement that have now been elevated to core values in planning practice But since that time the political economic and social context has evolved greatly and planners organizers and residents have been involved in planning and community development practice in ways previously unforeseen Learning from Arnstein's Ladder draws on contemporary theory expertise empirical analysis and practical applications in what is now more commonly termed public engagement in planning to examine the enduring impacts of Arnstein's work and the pervasive challenges that planners face in advancing meaningful public engagement This book presents research from throughout the world including Australia Brazil India Indonesia Portugal Serbia and the United States among others that utilizes critiques revises and expands upon Arnstein's aspirational vision It is essential reading for educators and students of planning Conceptual Modeling - ER 2002 Stefano Spaccapietra, Salvatore March, Yahiko Kambayashi, 2003-06-30 For more than 20 years the series of Conceptual Modeling ER conferences has provided a forum for research communities and practitioners to present and change research results and practical experiences in the fields of database design and conceptual modeling Throughout the years the scope of these conferences has extended from database design and specific topics of that area to more universal or refined conceptual modeling organizing originally weak or ill structured information or knowledge in more cultured ways by applying various kinds of principles abstract models and theories for different purposes At the same time many technically oriented approaches have been developed which aim to facilitate the implementation of rather advanced conceptual models Conceptual modeling is based on the process of conceptualization and it is the core of system structuring as well as justification for information systems development It supports and facilitates the understanding explanation prediction and reasoning on information and knowledge and their manipulation in the systems in addition to understanding and designing the functions of the systems The conceptualization process aims at constructing concepts relevant for the knowledge and information system in question Concepts in the human mind and concept descriptions in computerized information systems are quite different things by nature but both should be taken into account in conceptual modeling Usually concept descriptions are properly observed but concepts in the human mind and their properties are often neglected quite carelessly

Advances in Conceptual Modeling - Theory and Practice John F. Roddick, Richard Benjamins, Samira Si-Said Cherfi, Roger Chiang, Ramez Elmasri, Hyoil Han, Martin Hepp, Miltiadis Lystras, Vojislav Misic, Geert Poels, Il-Yeol Song, Christelle Vangenot, 2006-11-21 This book constitutes the refereed joint proceedings of seven international workshops held in conjunction with the 25th International Conference on Conceptual Modeling ER 2006 in Tucson AZ USA in November 2006 The 39 revised full papers presented together with the outlines of three tutorials were carefully reviewed and selected from 95 submissions
