Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Committee of Public Accounts, 2008-02-05 HM Revenue a final assessment is made once the claimant s actual circumstances are known after the end of the year which can change the final value of the award HMRC overpaid 6 billion in the first three years of the scheme By the end of March 2007 it had collected 2 billion of this debt and written off 0 7 billion 3 3 billion of these overpayments remain to be collected but it is unlikely to recover 1 6 billion of the debts Administrative cost has increased from 406 million in 2003 04 to 587 million in 2006 07 but there is little evidence HMRC has the scheme under control Many claimants continue to struggle to understand tax credits and why they are overpaid and there have been many complaints about the process for recovering overpayments Tax credits continue to suffer from the highest rates of error and fraud in central government HMRC estimates that claimant error and fraud led to incorrect payments of between 1 04 billion and 1 30 billion in 2004 05 HMRC still has no targets for reducing error and fraud In November 2005 it concluded a settlement of 71 25 million with EDS in respect of the computer problems during the introduction of tax credits Of the sum 26 5 million depends on EDS winning future work from the Government but the flow of payments from EDS has been extremely small and it is highly unlikely that new business to EDS will generate the full payment On a separate issue HMRC has not been collecting income tax on certain small pensions since the early 1980s with a potential tax loss of some 135 million per annum

The Fast Plan for Tax Reform Donald E. Phillipson,2013-11-05 Although nearly everyone involved with our federal taxation system agrees that simplification of this system is a positive and even necessary step achieving it has proven to be difficult Exploring the issue from start to finish this detailed blueprint to tax reform offers real solutions to the real problems of our taxation system Author Donald E Phillipson a lawyer who has studied the tax code for years reveals facts about deficit spending and the national debt and examines alternative taxation approaches He explores problems with current tax subsidies and individual income corporation income and estate taxes and presents new solutions to those problems Phillipson also offers new perspectives on the total federal tax obligations of individuals and relationships among taxes on individual income corporation income and estates and gifts Our taxation system desperately needs reform that takes into account the function of the system as a whole This study demonstrates that such reform is possible and that taxes can be fair accountable and simple without the creation of new tax collection structures

Budget Measures and Low-income Households Great Britain. Parliament. House of Commons. Treasury Committee,2008 This report examines the impact of the abolition of the 10 pence rate of income tax considering separately the effects of initial implementation and the effects in the light of the changes to personal allowances announced on 13 May 2008 The losers from the measures as initially implemented were people whose taxable income was small and for whom the loss might be significant when required to manage a personal or household budget at a time of sharply rising prices for many essential goods and services For the current tax year in the circumstances which the Chancellor of the Exchequer faced the option chosen on 13 May of increasing personal allowances but confining the benefits to basic rate taxpayers was probably the least bad option with the benefits of simplicity transparency and greater incentives to work on the basis that fewer taxpayers face high marginal deduction rates However 2 billion of the 2 7 billion committed to that measure is not devoted to compensating losers from the removal of the starting rate of income tax and is not well targeted The Government must learn lessons relating to budgetary processes The Government should publish a Household Impact Assessment alongside future Budgets and Pre Budget Reports There is a pressing need for the Government to compensate the remaining 1 1 million households who lose from the removal of the starting rate of income tax even after the 13 May changes In the longer term reforms should be centred on the greater challenges faced by the Government in combating poverty The Committee recommends the establishment of a Poverty Commission on a similar basis to the Pensions Commission to examine the public policy challenges relating to poverty
