Strangers On The Street - Serial homicide in South Africa Micki Pistorius,2012-10-03 The first comprehensive study of serial homicide in South Africa is intended primarily for psychologists students educators and police officers who require background on the behavioural patterns motives and other details about serial killers It is a serious attempt to understand the mind of the serial killer so that he may be identified and apprehended as soon as possible For as the author points out serial killers prospects of rehabilitation are negative and they need to be removed from society for the remainder of their lives Detectives need specific training to investigate serial homicide and Pistorius believes that an understanding of the psychodynamics of serial killers should be extended to state prosecutors judges parole officers and pathologists She also believes that those who work with children need to be aware that all documented cases of serial killers reveal either childhood abuse or neglect and that children displaying antisocial behaviour should be identified and receive counselling Only in being proactive in preserving the mental health and well being of children can the double tragedy of serial homicide ultimately be prevented The Kriek Family in South Africa Deborah Cuthbert,1994 World History of Psychiatry John G.
