Study Guide John Paul Bischoff, 1996 Student Study Guide to The Asian World, 600-1500 Roger Des Forges, John Major, 2005-10 The Christian doctrine of heaven has been a moral source of enormous power in western culture It has provided a striking account of the ultimate good in life and has for two millennia animated the hope that our lives can be fully meaningful Recently however the doctrine of heaven has lost much of its grip on the western imagination and has become a vague and largely ignored part of the Christian creed Not only have our hopes been redefined as a result but our very identity as human beings has been altered In this book Jerry L Walls argues that the doctrine of heaven is ripe for serious reconsideration He contends not only that the orthodox view of heaven can be defended from objections commonly raised against it but also that heaven is a powerful resource for addressing persistent philosophical problems not the least of which concern the ground of morality and the meaning of life Walls shows how heaven is integrally related to central Christian doctrines particularly those concerning salvation and tackles the difficult problem of why faith in Christ is necessary to save us from our sins In addition heaven is shown to illumine thorny problems of personal identity and to be an essential component of a satisfactory theodicy Walls goes on to examine data from near death experiences from the standpoint of some important recent work in epistemology and argues that they offer positive evidence for heaven He concludes that we profoundly need to recover the hope of heaven in order to recover our very humanity Study Guide Anthony of China has witnessed revolutionary changes that are unrivalled in any country of the world throughout history. Rapid urbanization facilitated by the modern planning mechanism for growth provides a feast for property developers. Yet associated urban problems such as housing affordability, traffic congestion, energy consumption, and environmental deterioration are aggravated. This book takes a historic approach to investigate the planning philosophy, urban form, and life of the past. Through a detailed study of urban development from early times through the imperial period with a focus on the Tang Song dynasties, this book attempts to articulate the good qualities of urban landscapes from the past that still have instructive value for modern practices. The focus on the Tang Song period is not only because China was the most advanced civilization of its time but also because it underwent a similar process of urbanization evident by tremendous economic growth, a dramatic rise of urban population, and an extended building boom. Through evaluating the streets, city layout, public places, urban communities, houses, and gardens and using interdisciplinary research in urban planning, urban design, architecture, history, and cultural studies, this book asserts that the past is quintessentially important. The past not only truthfully records the course of social and cultural formation of urban community and its associated physical fabric but also regulates the directions we may take in the future.

Visual, Material and Textual Cultures of Food and Drink in China, 200 BCE-1900 CE Stacey Pierson, 2022-08-25. This collection of essays examines aspects of the history of food and drink in China through an innovative interdisciplinary lens. Arranged in chronological and thematic order, the chapters present the research of a diverse group of international scholars and cover subjects ranging from Han period tomb paintings, jade goblets used for ceremonial elixirs, and pottery figurines of kitchen servants to Tang gold vessels, Ming porcelain wine cups, and 18th century imperial tea houses. This volume can therefore be read as a material history of Chinese food and drink through utensils and ingredients such as tea and wine, as well as a developmental survey of drinking and dining practices, food cultures, and culinary concepts in historical China. It will appeal to anyone with an interest in Chinese culinary history, Chinese art, and archaeology, as well as world food cultures.

ways both popular literature and market forces could shape ways of looking and how practices and imagery spread across regions The authors connect visual materials to funeral and religious practices drama poetry literati life travel and trade showing ways visual images and practices reflected adapted to and reproduced the culture and society around them Readers will gain a stronger appreciation of the richness of the visual and material cultures of Middle Period China Handbook for Asian Studies Specialists Noriko Asato,2013-10-08 An indispensable tool for librarians who do reference or collection management this work is a pioneering offering of expertly selected print and electronic reference tools for East Asian Studies Chinese Japanese and Korean Handbook for Asian Studies Specialists A Guide to Research Materials and Collection Building Tools is the first work to cover reference works for the main Asian area languages of China Japan and Korea Several leading Asian Studies librarians have contributed their many decades of experience to create a resource that gathers major reference titles both print and online that would be useful to today s Asian Studies librarian Organized by language group it offers useful information on the many subscription based and open source electronic tools relevant to Asian Studies This book will serve as an essential resource for reference collections at academic libraries Previously published bibliographies on materials deal with China or Japan or Korea but none have coalesced information on all three countries into one work or are written in English And unlike the other resources available this work provides the insight needed for librarians to make informed collection management decisions and reference selections Death Rituals and Politics in Northern Song China Mihwa Choi,2017-10-03 In traditional China a funeral and the accompanying death rituals represented a critical moment for the immediate family of the deceased to show their filial piety a core value of the society At the same time death rituals were social occasions and channels for the outward demonstration of belief in a religiously pluralistic society During the Northern Song period however death rituals increasingly became an arena for political contention as attempts were made to transform these practices from a private matter into one subject to state control Death Rituals and Politics in Northern Song China examines how political confrontations over the proper conduct of death rituals during Northern Song dynasty 960 1127 inaugurated a period of Confucian revivalism Mihwa Choi interprets Northern Song court politics family ritual practices burial practices and the popular imagination of the afterlife as sites of contest between groups of varying social status political vision and religious belief She demonstrates that the oversight of ritual affairs by scholar officials helped them gain the political upper hand they sought and more broadly fostered a revival of Confucianism as the dominant value system of Chinese society in the period that followed Performing Filial Piety in Northern Song China Cong Ellen Zhang,2020-09-30 Educated men in Song dynasty China 960 1279 traveled frequently in search of scholarly and bureaucratic success These extensive periods of physical mobility took them away from their families homes and native places for long periods of time preventing them from fulfilling their most sacred domestic duty filial piety to their parents In this deeply grounded work Cong Ellen Zhang locates the tension between worldly ambition and family duty at the heart of elite social and cultural life

Drawing on more than two thousand funerary biographies and other official and private writing Zhang argues that the predicament in which Song literati found themselves diminished neither the importance of filial piety nor the appeal of participating in examinations and government service On the contrary the Northern Song witnessed unprecedented literati activity and state involvement in the bolstering of ancient forms of filial performances and the promotion of new ones The result was the triumph of a new filial ideal luyang By labeling highly coveted honors and privileges attainable solely through scholarly and official accomplishments as the most celebrated filial acts the luyang rhetoric elevated office holding men to be the most filial of sons Consequently the proper performance of filiality became essential to scholar official identity and self representation Zhang convincingly demonstrates that this reconfiguration of elite male filiality transformed filial piety into a status and gender based virtue a change that had wide implications for elite family life and relationships in the Northern Song The separation of elite men from their parents and homes also made the idea of native place increasingly fluid This development in turn generated an interest in family preservation as filial performance Individually initiated kinship and native place based projects flourished and coalesced with the moral and cultural visions of leading scholar intellectuals providing the social and familial foundations for the ascendancy of Neo Confucianism as well as new cultural norms that transformed Chinese society in the Song and beyond
