

ASSETS

Assets are resources owned by a business that have economic value. They are the result of investments made by the business or its owners. Assets are classified into two main categories: Current Assets and Non-Current Assets.

Current Assets are assets that are expected to be converted into cash or sold within one year. Examples include cash, accounts receivable, inventory, and prepaid expenses.

Non-Current Assets are assets that are not expected to be converted into cash or sold within one year. Examples include property, plant, and equipment, intangible assets, and investments.

The accounting equation states that Assets = Liabilities + Equity. This means that the total value of a company's assets must always equal the sum of its liabilities and equity.

LIABILITIES

Liabilities are obligations or debts that a business owes to other parties. They are the result of borrowing money or purchasing goods and services on credit. Liabilities are classified into two main categories: Current Liabilities and Non-Current Liabilities.

Current Liabilities are liabilities that are due within one year. Examples include accounts payable, short-term debt, and accrued liabilities.

Non-Current Liabilities are liabilities that are due after more than one year. Examples include long-term debt, pension obligations, and deferred tax liabilities.

The accounting equation states that Assets = Liabilities + Equity. This means that the total value of a company's assets must always equal the sum of its liabilities and equity.

CONTRIBUTED CAPITAL

Contributed Capital represents the amount of capital that has been provided to the company by its owners. It is also known as paid-in capital or share capital. Contributed capital is divided into two main categories: Common Stock and Preferred Stock.

Common Stock represents the ownership interest in the company. It is the most common type of equity and is typically sold to the public. Common stockholders have the right to vote on company matters and to receive dividends.

Preferred Stock is a type of equity that has certain rights and privileges that are not shared by common stockholders. Preferred stockholders typically receive dividends before common stockholders and have the right to convert their shares into common stock.

Retained earnings are used for a variety of purposes, including reinvesting in the company, paying off debt, and funding research and development.

Retained earnings are calculated as follows: Retained Earnings = Net Income - Dividends. This means that the total amount of retained earnings is equal to the total net income of the company minus the total amount of dividends paid to shareholders.

EQUITY

Equity represents the ownership interest in a company. It is the sum of all assets minus all liabilities. Equity is divided into two main categories: Contributed Capital and Retained Earnings.
