The History of Global Climate Governance Joyeeta Gupta, 2014-02-06

What has happened globally on the climate change issue? How have countries' positions differed over time and why? How are problems and politics developing on an increasingly globalised planet and can we find a solution? This book explores these questions and more, explaining the key underlying issues of the conflicts between international blocs. The negotiation history is systematically presented in five phases, demonstrating the evolution of decision making. The book discusses the coalitions, actors and potential role of the judiciary as well as human rights issues in addressing the climate change problem. It argues for a methodical solution through global law and constitutionalism which could provide the quantum jump needed in addressing the problem of climate governance. This fascinating and accessible account will be a key resource for policymakers and NGOs and also for researchers and graduate students in climate policy, geopolitics, climate change, environmental policy and law and international relations.

The Cambridge World History: Volume 5, Expanding Webs of Exchange and Conflict, 500CE-1500CE Benjamin Z. Kedar, Merry E. Wiesner-Hanks, 2015-04-09

Volume 5 of the Cambridge World History series uncovers the cross cultural exchange and conquest and the accompanying growth of regional and trans regional states, religions and economic systems during the period 500 to 1500 CE. The volume begins by outlining a series of core issues and processes across the world including human relations with nature, gender and family, social hierarchies, education and warfare. Further essays examine maritime and land based networks of long distance trade and migration in agricultural and nomadic societies and the transmission and exchange of cultural forms, scientific knowledge, technologies and text based religious systems that accompanied these. The final section surveys the development of centralized regional states and empires in both the eastern and western hemispheres. Together these essays by an international team of leading authors show how processes furthering cultural, commercial and political integration within and between various regions of the world made this millennium a proto global era.

Logic, Science, God, and Human Intelligence Ronald J. Plachno, 2016-05-15

What is the fastest that humans have ever travelled? Do all Scientists agree that they understand gravity? Is the argument of Darwin versus Creationism a good argument on either side? Could some reality be in fact be an illusion as Einstein implied? This book tries to answer some of those questions and how all truth we perhaps might believe might actually exist together at the same time. The first two sections of this book speak to Science and Human Knowledge and how much do we humans really know I have a science degree but even I learned much in research while writing this book I tried to begin this book with a completely open mind since I believe that is how to seek truth In some cases I found new things surprising at least to me In other cases I just learned what some bright people in the past and current also think which just made me smile And I tried to write the book in such a simple manner that even I can understand it After the first two sections I do get into some theories of mine based on human knowledge and science in the beginning of the book You are more than welcome to form other theories Those ensuing discussions might even make life more interesting Is the purpose of this book to convince you of something No It s goal is to make us all think including me and also to get our discussions into the 21st century For some odd reason some humans believe that other humans should never think about things that are important Science has moved on We no longer believe that the world has only four elements Earth Wind and Fire and Water It is time to get up to speed with what humans have learned And then comes the fun of deciding what theories based on that each of us wish to believe Ethic of Christian Freedom and Discipleship Ronald R. Ray,2023-03-27 Ethics of Christian Freedom and Discipleship is written for teachers and students of Christian ethics within the English speaking world It demonstrates the basis of Christian ethics in Christian theology Twenty nine years ago before leaving the Nigerian theological college where the author had been teaching Between Two Worlds An Ethic of Christian Freedom was privately printed In Kenya at what became St Paul s University the author primarily used copies of this book for eleven years of teaching Christian ethics Ethics of Christian Freedom and Discipleship manifests continuity with the author s earlier book but is a distinctly different work Experimental Americans George L. ideology From ancient Greece to modern day bestsellers the studies gathered here offer a wide ranging analysis of the textual strategies used by historians They show how in spite of the pursuit of truth and objectivity the ways in which historians tell their stories are inevitably conditioned by their discursive contexts
