Never have so many possessed the means to be so lethal The diffusion of modern technology robotics cyber weapons 3 D printing autonomous systems and artificial intelligence to ordinary people has given them access to weapons of mass violence previously monopolized by the state In recent years states have attempted to stem the flow of such weapons to individuals and non state groups but their efforts are failing As Audrey Kurth Cronin explains in Power to the People what we are seeing now is an exacerbation of an age old trend Over the centuries the most surprising developments in warfare have occurred because of advances in technologies combined with changes in who can use them Indeed accessible innovations in destructive force have long driven new patterns of political violence When Nobel invented dynamite and Kalashnikov designed the AK 47 each inadvertently spurred terrorist and insurgent movements that killed millions and upended the international system That history illuminates our own situation in which emerging technologies are altering society and redistributing power The twenty first century sharing economy has already disrupted every institution including the armed forces New open technologies are transforming access to the means of violence Just as importantly higher order functions that previously had been exclusively under state military control mass mobilization force projection and systems integration are being harnessed by non state actors Cronin closes by focusing on how to respond so that we both preserve the benefits of emerging technologies yet reduce the risks Power in the form of lethal technology is flowing to the people but the same technologies that empower can imperil global security unless we act strategically The Atlantic Monthly ,1898 In a Sea of Empires Jeppe Mulich, 2020-07-09 A history of imperial competition colonial cooperation and revolutionary currents in the maritime borderlands of the early nineteenth century Caribbean
