Taiwanese Literature as World Literature Pei-yin Lin, Wen-chi Li, 2022-12-15 Owing to Taiwan's multi ethnic nature and palimpsestic colonial past Taiwanese literature is naturally multilingual Although it can be analyzed through frameworks of Japanophone literature and Chinese literature and the more provocative Sinophone literature only through viewing Taiwanese literature as world literature can we redress the limits of national identity and fully examine writers transculturation practice globally minded vision and the politics of its circulation Throughout the colonial era Taiwanese writers gained inspiration from global literary trends mainly but not exclusively through the medium of Japanese and Chinese Modernism was the mainstream literary style in 1960s Taiwan and since the 1980s Taiwanese literature has demonstrated a unique trajectory shaped jointly by postmodernism and postcolonialism These movements exhibit Taiwanese writers creative adaptations of world literary thought as a response to their local and trans national reality During the postwar years Taiwanese literature began to be more systematically introduced to world readers through translation Over the past few decades Taiwanese authors and their translated works have participated in global conversations such as those on climate change the post truth era and ethnic and gender equality Bringing together scholars and translators from Europe North America and East Asia the volume focuses on three interrelated themes the framing and worlding ploys of Taiwanese literature Taiwanese writers experience of transculturation and politics behind translating Taiwanese literature The volume stimulates new ways of conceptualizing Taiwanese literature demonstrates remarkable cases of Taiwanese authors co option of world trends in their Taiwan concerned writing and explores its readership and dissemination

Re-thinking Europe Nele Bemong, Mirjam Truwant, Pieter Vermeulen, 2008 Re Thinking Europe sets out to investigate the place of the idea of Europe in literature and comparative literary studies The essays in this collection turn to the past in which Europe became synonymous with a tradition of peace and tolerance beyond national borders and enter into a critical dialogue with the present in which Europe has increasingly become associated with a history of oppression and violence The different essays together demonstrate how the idea of Europe cannot be thought apart from the tension between the regional and the global between nationalism and pluralism and can therefore be re thought as an opportunity for an identity beyond national or ethnic borders Engaging contemporary discourses on hybrid postcolonial and transnational identity this volume shows how literature can function as both a vital tool to forge new identities and a power subversive of such attempts at identity formation Like Europe it is always marked by the tension between integration and resistance The book will be of interest to students and scholars of modern literature
