The Novel and the Rural Imaginary in Egypt, 1880-1985 Samah Selim, 2004-04-01 The book locates questions of language genre textuality and canonicity within a historical and theoretical framework that foregrounds the emergence of modern nationalism in Egypt The ways in which the cultural discourses produced by twentieth century Egyptian nationalism created a space for both a hegemonic and counter hegemonic politics of language class and place that inscribed a bifurcated narrative and social geography are examined The book argues that the rupture between the village and the city contained in the Egyptian nationalism discourse is reproduced as a narrative dislocation that has continued to characterize and shape the Egyptian novel in general and the village novel in particular Reading the village novel in Egypt as a dynamic intertext that constructs modernity in a local historical and political context rather than rehearsing a simple repetition of dominant European literary critical paradigms this book offers a new approach to the construction of modern Arabic literary history as well as to theoretical questions related to the structure and role of the novel as a worldly narrative genre
