Navigating World History P. Manning, 2003-05-15 World history has expanded dramatically in recent years primarily as a teaching field and increasingly as a research field Growing numbers of teachers and Ph Ds in history are required to teach the subject They must be current on topics from human evolution to industrial development in Song dynasty China to today's disease patterns and then link these disparate topics into a coherent course Numerous textbooks in print and in preparation summarize the field of world history at an introductory level But good teaching also requires advanced training for teachers and access to a stream of new research from scholars trained as world historians In this book Patrick Manning provides the first comprehensive overview of the academic field of world history He reviews patterns of research and debate and proposes guidelines for study by teachers and by researchers in world history The World's History Howard Spodek, 2001 A true exploration of world history this text presents world history through an analysis of eight chronological turning points seen through the prisms of eight different themes origins cities empires religion trade migrations revolutions and technology Focusing throughout on three major questions What do we know How do we know it What difference does it make it helps readers make sense of the immensity of human historical experience the most significant activities accomplishments and failures throughout the world from earliest times to the present Volumes I and II cover the following turning points human origins and human cultures 5 million B C E 10 000 B C E The first cities 10 000 B C E 1000 C E Empire and Imperialism 2300 B C E 1100 C E the rise of world religions 600 B C E 1500 C E world trade 1100 1776 C E migration 1500 1750 social change 1688 1914 and exploding technologies 1914 1900s For individuals interested in a comprehensive yet manageable presentation of world history The World's History to 1500 Howard Spodek, 2000 Arguments for Learning Bill Cope, Walter Feinberg, 2025-03-11 Almost every educational idea worth a thought has been considered at the University of Illinois and anything worth trying has been tested In this history of ideas Bill Cope and Walter Feinberg chronicle the intellectual lives of education thinkers at the university while tracking the development of educational ideas and practices in general Cope and Feinberg draw on conversations narratives and archival research that reveal how different generations explored their role in defining and carrying out the College's multifaceted mission Their account raises critical questions about the character of learning the aims of teaching and the nature of teaching as a profession At the same time the authors address issues that range from the role of schools in fostering individual and collective identity to the introduction of computer mediated and online learning Cope and Feinberg examine changes in self understanding about fundamental ideas and chart how the College evolved from its original narrow mission of training children's schoolteachers to embracing global perspectives A wide ranging portrait of an institution Arguments for Learning uses the School of Education to tell the stories of thinkers dedicated to the idea that education can change the world for the better Forthcoming Books Rose Army, 2004 Resources in education , 1984-11 Cumulated Index to the Books , 1999 Multiple Perspectives on
