, 1992-06 Computer-Assisted Theory Building Robert Hanneman, 1988 This volume provides a new set of tools for creating and analysing theories Computer Assisted Theory Building re orients the way many social scientists build and work with theories and it will prove of value to all practising social science theorists Because verbal formulations are insufficiently specific and mathematical formulations often too restrictive the author proposes a new formal language as a middle way advocating computer simulation models to allow the formulation of more dynamic theories Subject Guide to Books in

, 1989 New Trends in Neural Computation José Mira, Joan Cabestany, Alberto Prieto, 1993-05-27 Neural computation arises from the capacity of nervous tissue to process information and accumulate knowledge in an intelligent manner Conventional computational machines have encountered enormous difficulties in duplicating such functionalities This has given rise to the development of Artificial Neural Networks where computation is distributed over a great number of local processing elements with a high degree of connectivity and in which external programming is replaced with supervised and unsupervised learning The papers presented in this volume are carefully reviewed versions of the talks delivered at the International Workshop on Artificial Neural Networks IWANN 93 organized by the Universities of Catalonia and the Spanish Open University at Madrid and held at Barcelona Spain in June 1993 The 111 papers are organized in seven sections biological perspectives mathematical models learning self organizing networks neural software hardware implementation and applications in five subsections signal processing and pattern recognition communications artificial vision control and robotics and other applications Catalog of Copyright Entries.
