

Tanglewood Case Study

Environmental Scan

Tanglewood has a very complex environment with both external and internal forces working for and against the company at the same time. The data in table 1.1 shows that Tanglewood will lose 53% of its workforce this year due to retention issue that will require a large pool of entry level store associates to be hired. Shift leaders will also see a reduction of 50% requiring the promotions of 600 new shift leaders from current sales associates.

The culture of promoting from within creates strong work ethics among those employees wishing to attain more responsibility within Tanglewood. Urban areas may offer the level of sales associates required within the next year, and by offering higher than average pay may create a higher level of satisfaction to retain employees. Action Plan for Hiring in Spokane, Washington

Staffing levels for the next year will follow the historic trends of recent years. Tanglewood current workforce consists of 10, 750 employees across 50 stores in the state of Washington. Tanglewood will require 3,995 store associates, 90 shift leaders, 156 department managers, -21 assistant store managers, and 5 store managers. Sales associates are the face of the company to the customer and special provisions need to be taken to insure that the employee knows that their hard work is integral to Tanglewood's success. The more successful employees will be promoted to shift leaders. The goal is to increase job satisfaction, with a variety of cross training and incentives to help retain talented associates. Entry level positions may require incentives to attract the large candidate pool needed to fill such a large gap. The internal practice of promoting from within Tanglewood offers the potential to advance within, but only after spending several years acclimating to Tanglewood's culture and store environment. Incentives such as higher starting pay will attract more applicants especially high school students looking for cash to spend.

High school students not wanting to attend college may find the culture of internal promotion welcoming as a chance to grow with the company. College graduates may find entry level jobs to lack the level of pay, odd-hours, and conflict with lower-level employees. Currently there is a surplus of 21 Assistant store managers and only 5 Store manager positions opening in the next year. The remaining 17 have the potential to be related to other regions that may need qualified store managers, though these assistant may lack the skills or knowledge to move ahead. Promotion from within is a key tenant that makes Tanglewood's culture terrific and it should be utilized to retain talent. Externally recruiting should be done to recruit through job fairs, kiosks, and employment web sites. Demographic Paleocurrents and Basin Analysis P. E. Potter, F. J. Pettijohn, 2012-12-06 The study of paleocurrents since 1963 is now a very routine part of sedimentology and more and more such studies are finding use in other fields Thus it seemed appropriate for us to review post 1963 developments and present them in a compact manner for the interested reader Instead of rewriting a second edition which thirteen years later we would organize in a completely different way we have brought each chapter up to date with new material up to 1976 A new update supplement has in this edition been inserted after each one of the original chapters We have stayed close to the original theme of paleocurrents how to measure them and how to use them to solve geological problems ranging in scale from the hand specimen to the sedimentary basin and beyond We have used many annotated references and tables to help present this information to the reader The reader will note that we have cited a few 1962 references publications that appeared too late to be cited in the original 1963 edition A few times we have also cited a reference which was included in the first edition These are marked with an asterisk and hence do not appear in the new lists of references We have been aided by many In Cincinnati WANDA OSBORNE and JEAN CARROL did typing and RICHARD SPOHN the University's geological librarian was very helpful in obtaining many references to the literature The Syntax of Information-Structural Agreement Johannes Mursell, 2021-09-15 In this research monograph Johannes Mursell discusses the syntactic impact of information structural features on agreement So far the syntactic contribution of this type of feature has mostly been reduced to movement of topics or foci clause initial position Here the author looks at a different phenomenon syntactic agreement and how this process can be dependent on information structural properties Based partly on original fieldwork from a typologically diverse set of languages including Tagalog Swahili and Lavukaleve it is argued that for most areas for which information structural features have been discussed it is possible to find cases where these features influence phi feature agreement The analysis is then extended to cases of Association with Focus which does not involve phi features but can still be accounted for with agreement of information structural features The book achieves two main goals first it provides a uniform analysis for different constructions in unrelated languages Second it also gives a new argument that information structural features should be treated as genuine syntactic features An Analysis and Comparison of the Aesthetics and Philosophy of Selected Music Critics in New York

Ellyn Berk, 1983 The Effectiveness of Land Use Policies as a Strategy for Reducing Automobile Dependence Susan Handy, Kelly Clifton, Janice Fisher, 1998 The work described in this report represents an effort to better understand the link between urban form and travel behavior and to evaluate the potential effectiveness of land use policies as a strategy for reducing automobile dependence This work builds on previous research in this area but attempts to go beyond it by exploring the motivations for travel as well as the patterns of travel Travel surveys and focus groups were used to study the travel choices of residents of six case study neighborhoods in Austin Texas The results suggest that the role urban form plays in travel behavior is not entirely straightforward sometimes influencing travel choices directly sometimes indirectly sometimes influencing choices in the short term sometimes in the long term and sometimes not having any measurable influence on choices at all In the end it appears that certain land use policies can help to provide alternatives to driving but that the reduction in driving is likely to be small Meanings of Music Participation C. Victor Fung, Lisa J. Lehmberg, 2022-08-26

This book uncovers the multifaceted nature of music participation through a collection of studies in a wide variety of musical contexts across the United States The contributors combine personal voices and vivid narratives with scholarship to present many potential meanings of music participation and lay out research based implications for lifelong music education Exploring music participation in choral and instrumental ensembles school music classes and community groups in person and virtual spaces among children young adults and older adults and for native born citizens and immigrants the 10 original studies in this volume present a diverse portrait of musical engagement The chapters draw out themes including enjoyment identity development learner autonomy social interaction motivation commitment and quality of life and draw connections between musical meanings and philosophical principles from both Western and Eastern traditions Linked by interludes that connect the empirical studies with philosophical interpretations this volume brings together multiple methodologies and
