Impaired Wetlands in a Damaged Landscape Kevin P. Timoney,2015-07-01 This work is a scientific monograph that examines the flora and vegetation of natural mineral wetlands in comparison to mineral wetlands affected by bitumen exploitation The work is of broad relevance because a wetland loss and degradation is a global problem b the continued global increase in fossil fuel exploitation is resulting in widespread damage and c bitumen tar sands oil sands exploitation is a rapidly growing and destructive set of activities The core of the work is a meta analysis of 417 vegetation plots Analyses of change over time and chemical and physical attributes of water and soil are presented for the subset of plots with sufficient data The purpose of the work is to demonstrate that 1 There are marked differences between natural and industrially affected wetlands 2 Industrially affected mineral wetlands differ from natural wetlands in their vegetation assemblages their depressed vegetation and species diversity and their abundance of exotic weeds 3 Successful post bitumen mining wetland reclamation has not been accomplished and may not be attainable within the foreseeable future given the ecological and physical conditions of the industrial wetlands current reclamation practices and lax regulatory standards In regard to government policy and industrial practices it finds that they are responsible for reclamation failure on a grand scale
