Chicano Nations Marissa K. López,2011-10-01 Part of the American Literatures Initiative Series Chicano Nations argues that the transnationalism that is central to Chicano identity originated in the global postcolonial moment at the turn of the nineteenth century rather than as an effect of contemporary economic conditions which began in the mid nineteenth century and primarily affected the laboring classes The Spanish empire then began to implode and colonists in the new world debated the national contours of the viceroyalties This is where Marissa K L pez locates the origins of Chicano literature which is now and always has been postnational encompassing the wealthy the poor the white and the mestizo Tracing its long history and the diversity of subject positions it encompasses Chicano Nations explores the shifting literary forms authors have used to write the nation from the nineteenth to the twenty first centuries Lopez argues that while national and global tensions lie at the historical heart of Chicano narratives of the nation there should be alternative ways to imagine the significance of Chicano literature other than as a reflection of national identity In a nuanced analysis the book provides a way to think of early writers as a meaningful part of Chicano literary history and in looking at the nation rather than the particularities of identity as that which connects Chicano literature over time it engages the emerging hemispheric scholarship on U S literature
