Knowledge-Based Intelligent Information and Engineering Systems Rajiv Khosla, 2005-08-25 Dear delegates friends and members of the growing KES professional community welcome to the proceedings of the 9th International Conference on Knowledge Based and Intelligent Information and Engineering Systems hosted by La Trobe University in Melbourne, Australia. The KES conference series has been established for almost a decade and it continues each year to attract participants from all geographical areas of the world including Europe, the Americas, Australasia and the Pacific Rim. The KES conferences cover a wide range of intelligent systems topics. The broad focus of the conference series is the theory and applications of intelligent systems. From a pure research field, intelligent systems have advanced to the point where their abilities have been incorporated into many business and engineering application areas. KES 2005 provided a valuable mechanism for delegates to obtain an extensive view of the latest research into a range of intelligent systems algorithms, tools and techniques. The conference also gave delegates the chance to come into contact with those applying intelligent systems in diverse commercial areas. The combination of theory and practice represented a unique opportunity to gain an appreciation of the full spectrum of leading edge intelligent systems activity. The papers for KES 2005 were either submitted to invited sessions chaired and organized by respected experts in their fields or to a general session managed by an extensive International Program Committee or to the Intelligent Information Hiding and Multimedia Signal Processing IIHMSP Workshop managed by an International Workshop Technical Committee.

Microelectronics Education B. Courtois, N. Guillemot, G. Kamarinos, G. Stéhelin, 2013-03-09 This is the third edition of the European Workshop on Microelectronics Education EWME. A steady state regime has now been reached. An international community of university teachers is constituted; they exchange their experience and their pedagogical tools. They discuss the best ways to transfer the rapidly changing techniques to their students and to introduce them to the new physical and mathematical concepts and models for the innovative techniques, devices, circuits and design methods. The number of abstracts submitted to EWME 2000, about one hundred, enabled the scientific committee to proceed to a clear selection. EWME is a European meeting. Indeed, authors from 20 different European countries contribute to this volume. Nevertheless, the participation of authors from Brazil, Canada, China, New Zealand and USA shows that the workshop gradually attains an international dimension. The 20th century can be characterized as the century of the electron. The electron as an elementary particle was discovered by J. J. Thomson in 1897 and was rapidly used to transfer energy and information. Thanks to the electron, the universe and microcosmos could be explored. The electron became the omnipotent and omnipresent, almost immaterial angel of our World. This was made possible thanks to electronics and for the last 30 years to microelectronics. Microelectronics not only modified and even radically transformed the industrial and the everyday landscapes but it also led to the so-called information revolution with which begins the 21st century.
