Infantry ,2007 Natural Killer T-cells Nathan V. Fournier,2008 Natural killer T NKT cells are a heterogeneous group of T cells that share properties of both T cells and natural killer NK cells Many of these cells recognize the non polymorphic CD1d molecule an antigen presenting molecule that binds self and foreign lipids and glycolipids Upon activation NK T cells are able to produce large quantities of interferon gamma IL 4 and granulocyte macrophage colony stimulating factor as well as multiple other cytokines and chemokines such as IL 2 and TNF alpha NKT cells seem to be essential for several aspects of immunity because their dysfunction or deficiency has been shown to lead to the development of autoimmune diseases such as diabetes or atherosclerosis and cancers NKT cells have recently been implicated in the disease progression of human asthma The clinical potential of NKT cells lies in the rapid release of cytokines such as IL 2 IFN gamma TNF alpha and IL 4 that promote or suppress different immune responses

Cultural Politics of Targeted Killing Kyle Grayson,2016-07-15 The deployment of remotely piloted air platforms RPAs or drones has become a defining feature of contemporary counter insurgency operations Scholarly analysis and public debate has primarily focused on two issues the legality of targeted killing and whether the practice is effective at disrupting insurgency networks and the intensive media and activist scrutiny of the policy processes through which targeted killing decisions have been made While contributing to these ongoing discussions this book aims to determine how targeted killing has become possible in contemporary counter insurgency operations undertaken by liberal regimes Each chapter is oriented around a problematisation that has shaped the cultural politics of the targeted killing assemblage Grayson argues that in order to understand how specific forms of violence become prevalent it is important to determine how problematisations that enable them are shaped by a politico cultural system in which culture operates in conjunction with technological economic governmental and geostrategic elements The book also demonstrates that the actors involved what they may be attempting to achieve through the deployment of this form of violence how they attempt to achieve it and where they attempt to achieve it are also shaped by culture The book demonstrates how the current social relations prevalent in liberal societies contain the potential for targeted killing as a normal rather than extraordinary practice It will be of great use for academic specialists

Kamm, 2012-10-19 The Moral Target Aiming at Right Conduct in War and Other Conflicts comprises essays that discuss aspects of war and other conflicts in the light of both nonconsequentialist ethical theory and the views of such theorists as Barbara Herman Jeff McMahan Avishai Margalit and Michael Walzer The first essay deals with the relation between states of affairs whose termination justifies war and states of affairs that once achieved should put an end to war The next few essays deal with conduct in war They first consider the implications of general moral principles including the Doctrine of Double Effect and Principle of Permissible Harm for the permissibility of harm to combatants and noncombatants and then whether factors unique to war should alter what is permissible In particular if the context of war should affect the relative violability of different combatants and different noncombatants if terror killing combatants and or noncombatants should ever be permissible and if there is liability to harm in virtue of belonging to a group The fifth essay examines how recent discussions by nonconsequentialists about redirection of threats as in the famous Trolley Problem may illuminate the moral status of collaboration that took place with Nazis during the Holocaust What justice requires after conflict and how our ability to provide it affects the permissibility of starting war is the next topic Truth and reconciliation commissions and retribution post conflict are discussed and whether harm to civilians stemming from such procedures and how the harm arises bear on the permissibility of instituting the procedures The three concluding essays deal with moral aspects of conflicts outside of standard war including those involving the threat of terrorism resistance to communal injustice for example in the case of the Taliban women and the use of nuclear weapons for deterrence
