Lending Division,1981 KORDI research papers in ... ,1988 Lake Taihu, China Boqiang Qin,2008-07-22 2 In China there are more than 2 759 lakes with surface area greater than 1km and 2 the total lake area is 91 019km One third of these lakes are freshwater lakes and the majority are situated in the middle and lower reaches of the Changjiang River or in eastern China's coastal areas. These lakes function as drinking water supplies, food control systems, aquaculture and tourism resources, navigation channels, etc. Recently, many shallow lakes in China have been subject to rapid eutrophication and suffer from algal blooms. This issue has resulted in a shortage of drinking water and in degradation of their ecosystems. The control of eutrophication of shallow lakes is one of the main issues with which the local people and Chinese governments are concerned today. Lake Taihu is the third largest freshwater lake in China with an area of about 2,338 km² and a mean depth of 1.9 m, a typical shallow lake located in the delta of Changjiang River, the most industrialized and urbanized area in China. Its main function is supplying drinking water for the surrounding cities such as Wuxi, Suzhou and Shanghai, but tourism, aquaculture, fisheries and navigation are important as well. However, with economic development and increased population in the lake basin, Lake Taihu has suffered increasingly from serious eutrophication. The environmental issue of Lake Taihu is now a very common one as most lakes from eastern China are confronted with it.

The Zoological Record, 2000 The Global Development Of Policy Regimes To Combat Climate Change Alex Bowen, Nicholas Stern, John Whalley, 2014-04-01

The year 2015 will be a landmark year for international climate change negotiations. Governments have agreed to adopt a universal legal agreement on climate change at the 21st Conference of Parties COP21 to the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change UNFCCC in Paris in 2015. The agreement will come into force no later than 2020. This book focuses on the prospects for global agreement, how to encourage compliance with any such agreement and perspectives of key players in the negotiations: the United States, India, China and the EU. It finds that there is strong commitment to the established UN institutions and processes within which the search for further agreed actions will occur. There are already a myriad of local and regional policies that are helping to reduce greenhouse gas emissions and build mutual confidence. However, the chapters in the book also highlight potential areas of discord. For instance, varying interpretations of the common but differentiated responsibilities of developing countries agreed as part of the UNFCCC could be a major sticking point for negotiators. When combined with other issues such as the choice of consumption or production as the basis for mitigation commitments, the appropriate time frame and base date for their measurement and whether level or intensity commitments are to be negotiated, the challenges that need to be overcome are considerable. The authors bring to bear insights from economics, public finance and game theory.

Implementing the Cape Town Convention and the Domestic Laws on Secured Transactions Souichirou Kozuka, 2017-01-25

This book offers the analysis of the relationship between the Cape Town Convention and national laws on secured transactions. The first part of the book considers why national implementation is so important in the case of the Cape Town Convention and identifies how innovative the Convention is as a uniform law instrument. The second part includes chapters on those states that are Parties to the Cape Town Convention which analyse how the Convention is implemented under the domestic law. The third part includes chapters on those states that are not Parties to the Convention which compare their national laws and the Convention to find unique features of the Cape Town Convention's rules. The fourth part discusses the meaning of Protocols on aircraft, railway rolling stock and space assets from the practitioner's point of view. As a whole, the book offers insights into the new stage of uniform private law and shows the need for further examination of the subject, which will be essential for international and national legislators, academics of comparative and international private law as well as practitioners who are the users of the uniform law regime.

Literature Education in the Asia-Pacific Chin Ee Loh, Suzanne S. Choo, Catherine Beavis, 2018-03-29. The continual rise of English as a global lingua franca has meant that English literature, both as a discipline and as a tool in ESL and EFL classrooms, is being used in varied ways outside the inner circle of English. This edited collection provides an overview of English literature education in the Asia Pacific in global times, bringing to international attention a rich understanding of the trends, issues and challenges specific to nations within the Asia Pacific region. Comprising contributions from Australia, China, Hong Kong, India, Indonesia, Malaysia, Philippines, Singapore and Vietnam, the collection addresses the diversity of learners in different national cultural and teaching contexts. In doing so, it provides insights into historical and current trends in literature education, foregrounds specific issues and challenges in policymaking and implementation, presents practical matters concerning text selection, use of literature in the language classroom, innovative practices in literature education and raises pressing and important questions about the nature, purpose and importance of literature education in global times.
