Reading Comprehension Through Unseen Passages

1. Read the following text.

1. Despite plenty of naysayers, the textbook is dead. It just doesn't know it yet and continues on walking about as though alive. I even have one, A textbook of Physics, on my bookshelf beside me that was printed in 1891. It has some line drawings and no colour. Today, textbooks have lots of colourful images and engaging questions sprinkled about them. They also have tons of advice for teachers on how to use them effectively.
2. The word "textbook" originated in the 1720s, almost 300 years ago. It's had a good run and is ready to retire. Those who argue that you cannot learn well without a textbook ignore the centuries prior to 1720 when lots of people learned and learned well with no textbooks anywhere. You can learn without textbooks. That's certain. But why should we bother to change something that worked for 30 years? Many deliver the verdict in a single word: technology. That's way too simplistic.
3. We've seen film loops, overhead projectors, motion picture projectors, machine scoring of tests and a myriad of other technological innovations in classrooms, but the textbook remains. No, technology alone will not end the reign of the textbook. It takes something more and that became available in the 1940s-the programmable electronic computer. But here we are 70 years later, with plenty of textbooks visible. The computer was not sufficient by itself.
4. The next big change began with ARPANET in the 1960s. This foundation led to the internet and its growth has been phenomenal. But a widespread communication medium alone is not sufficient to dislodge textbooks either. Inexpensive computers, easy-to-use-interfaces (GUIs) and ready access to the internet all contribute.
5. "Fine," say many. "But the textbook publishers are putting their book online. They are creating e-textbooks. So, textbooks live!"
6. This argument misses the essential difference between education technology in the earlier times and education technology in the present, other than mere cost. Computer software can be interactive. Previous education technology was, like textbooks, rather passive. Active learning is far superior to passive learning, so much so that it's not a step, not a leap but a rocket propelled launch past old-fashioned learning.
