In At Penpoint Monica Popescu traces the development of African literature during the second half of the twentieth century to address the intertwined effects of the Cold War and decolonization on literary history Popescu draws on archival materials from the Soviet sponsored Afro Asian Writers Association and the CIA funded Congress for Cultural Freedom alongside considerations of canonical literary works by Ayi Kwei Armah Ng g wa Thiong o Ousmane Semb ne Pepetela Nadine Gordimer and others She outlines how the tensions between the United States and the Soviet Union played out in the aesthetic and political debates among African writers and intellectuals These writers decolonized aesthetic canons even as superpowers attempted to shape African cultural production in ways that would advance their ideological and geopolitical goals Placing African literature at the crossroads of postcolonial theory and studies of the Cold War Popescu provides a new reassessment of African literature aesthetics and knowledge production American Uprising Daniel Rasmussen,2024-01-17

Romania, 1966 Writing the Global Riot Jumana Bayeh, Helen Groth, Julian Murphet, 2024-01-30 The history of the modern riot parallels the development of the modern novel and writers have collectively shaped perceptions of the riot as a form of political and social expression The essays in this volume analyse literature's dialogue with the histories of violence bound up in the riot as an inherently volatile form of collective action Novels, Histories, Novel Nations Linda Kaljundi, Eneken Laanes, Ilona Pikkanen, 2015-05-13 This volume addresses the prominent and in many ways highly similar role that historical fiction has played in the formation of the two neighbouring young nations Finland and Estonia It gives a multi-sided overview of the function of the historical novel during different periods of Finnish and Estonian history from the 1800s until the present day and it provides detailed close readings of selected authors and literary trends in their social political and cultural contexts This book addresses nineteenth century fictional foundations historical fiction of the new nation states in the interwar period as well as post Second World War Soviet Estonian novels and modern historiographic metafiction Gulag Fiction Polly Jones, 2024-10-17 This unique exploration of Russian prose fiction about the Soviet labour camp system since the Stalin era compares representations of identity ethics and memory across the corpus The Soviet labour camp system or Gulag was a highly complex network of different types of penal institutions scattered across the vast Soviet territory and affecting millions of Soviet citizens directly and indirectly As Gulag Fiction shows its legacies remain palpable today though survivors of the camps are now increasingly scarce and successive Soviet and post Soviet leaders have been reluctant to authorise a full working through of the Gulag past This is the first book to compare Soviet

Women's Ghost Literature in Nineteenth-Century Britain Melissa Edmundson Makala, 2013-02-15 Nineteenth century ghost literature by women shows the Gothic becoming more experimental and subversive as its writers abandoned the stereotypical Gothic heroines of the past in order to create more realistic middle class characters both living and dead male and female who rage against the limits imposed on them by the natural world The ghosts of Female Gothic thereby become reflections of the social sexual economic and racial troubles of the living Expanding the parameters of Female Gothic and moving it into the nineteenth and twentieth centuries allows us to recognise women's ghost literature as a specific strain of the Female Gothic that began not with Ann Radcliffe but with the Romantic Gothic ballads of women in the first decade of the nineteenth century
