Between One and Many: The Art and Science of Public Speaking STEVEN. BRYDON,2010 Arab Women Writers

Raḍwá 'Āshūr, Ferial Jabouri Ghazoul, Hasna Reda-Mekdash, Mandy McClure, 2008 Arab women's writing in the modern age began with Aisha al Taymuriya Warda al Yaziji Zaynab Fawwaz and other nineteenth century pioneers in Egypt and the Levant. This unique study first published in Arabic in 2004 looks at the work of those pioneers and then traces the development of Arab women's literature through the end of the twentieth century and also includes a meticulously researched comprehensive bibliography of writing by Arab women. In the first section in nine essays that cover the Arab Middle East from Morocco to Iraq and Syria to Yemen critics and writers from the Arab world examine the origin and evolution of women's writing in each country in the region addressing fiction poetry drama and autobiographical writing. The second part of the volume contains bibliographical entries for over 1 200 Arab women writers from the last third of the nineteenth century through 1999. Each entry contains a short biography and a bibliography of each author's published works. This section also includes Arab women's writing in French and English as well as a bibliography of works translated into English. With its broad scope and extensive research this book is an indispensable resource for anyone interested in Arabic literature women's studies or comparative literature. The Holocaust in Three Generations Gabriele Rosenthal, 1998-08-13 Through lengthy interviews and observation of family relationships this book investigates how the histories of those involved in the Holocaust as both victims and perpetrators impact socially and psychologically on the lives of the second and third generation. Five case studies of survivors' families from Germany and Israel present different experiences of persecution and demonstrate to what extent the past defines post-war family dynamics. Two case studies of non-Jewish German families where the grandparents' generation are suspected of having perpetrated Nazi crimes show how guilt and the myth of themselves being victims are pressed on to the succeeding generations. TV Guide, 1999 McClure's Magazine, 1917 Gender, Transitional Justice and Memorial Arts Jelke Boesten, Helen Scanlon, 2021-05-17 This book examines the role of post-conflict memorial arts in bringing about gender justice in transitional societies. Art and post-violence memorialisation are currently widely debated. Scholars of human rights and of commemorative arts discuss the aesthetics and politics not only of sites of commemoration but of literature poetry visual arts and increasingly film and comics. Art memory and activism are also increasingly intertwined. But within the literature around post-conflict transitional justice and critical human rights studies there is little questioning about what memorial arts do for gender justice how women and men are included and represented and how this intertwines with other questions of identity and representation such as race and ethnicity. The book brings together research from scholars around the world who are interested in the gendered dimensions of memory making in transitional societies. Addressing a global range of cases including genocide authoritarianism civil war electoral violence and apartheid they consider not only the gendered commemoration of past violence but also the possibility of producing counter narratives that unsettle and challenge established stereotypes Aimed at those interested in the fields of transitional justice memory studies post conflict peacebuilding human rights and gender studies this book will appeal to academics researchers and practitioners The
