Summiting Everest Captured World History:

Captured World History: Summiting Everest Emma Carlson Berne, 2014 The summit of Mount Everest the highest place on Earth Could it be conquered Could a climber literally stand on top of the world No one had ever reached the summit and returned alive Edmund Hillary and Tenzing Norgay wanted to be the first Not far from the top before their final hours of climbing team photographer Alfred Gregory snapped a picture of Hillary and Norgay with the imposing Himalayas spread out behind them It was the highest photograph anyone in human history had ever taken With a click of his camera shutter in May 1953 Gregory opened up a hidden world for the rest of humanity to share

Captured World History: The Blue Marble Don Nardo, 2014 The astronauts headed to the moon in December 1972 thought they knew what to expect They would soon be exploring the moon's surface in a lunar rover traveling farther than anyone before them They would be collecting soil and rock samples for study back on Earth and could expect to learn about the moon's physical makeup and age But what they didn't expect came as a huge bonus The astronauts of Apollo 17 would produce an amazing photograph of planet Earth a lonely globe floating in inky black space Their stunning Blue Marble image was destined to become one of the most reproduced and recognizable photos in history And no one is 100 percent sure who took it

Captured World History: Tank Man Michael Bernard Burgan, 2014 No one knew his name But soon millions would know about his bravery For almost two months in spring 1989 Beijing's Tiananmen Square had been the site of growing protests against China's hardline communist government In early June China's leaders had had enough In a matter of days soldiers cleared the square They used sticks and cattle prods They shot rubber bullets then real ones They used bayonets Student protesters fought back with firebombs and rocks but they were no match for the soldiers Gunfire still rang out in parts of Beijing but China's leaders felt in control As tanks rumbled through the streets near Tiananmen Square a man in a white shirt came suddenly into view He held up his right hand like a police officer trying to halt traffic The first huge tank in a row of four stopped just a few feet in front of the man The tanks behind it stopped as well Photographer Jeff Widener took a picture of the brave protester halting the huge armored fighting vehicles The image was soon sent around the world becoming one of the most famous photographs ever

Captured World History: Hitler in Paris Don Nardo, 2014 World War II was in its early days when brutal German dictator Adolf Hitler paid a visit to Paris the capital of France Only days before on June 14 1940 German soldiers had overrun the city shocking the world Hitler now viewed the city's cultural treasures as his own He posed for a photo in front of the Eiffel Tower the beloved symbol of France and the country's free democratic people The photo taken by his personal photographer Heinrich Hoffmann would show the world that Nazi Germany had triumphed over its bitter enemy Many who viewed the photo in newspapers around the globe would draw a second conclusion that Germany would almost certainly invade Britain next And if Britain fell Hitler would be a huge step closer to his ultimate goal of world domination

Summit and Its Importance in International History Günter Bischof, Stefan Karner, Barbara Stelzl-Marx, 2013-12-19 At the beginning of June 1961 the tensions of the Cold War were supposed to abate as both sides sought a resolution The two most important men in the world John F Kennedy and Nikita Khrushchev met for a summit in Vienna Yet the high hopes were disappointed Within months the Cold War had become very hot Khrushchev built the Berlin Wall and a year later he sent missiles to Cuba to threaten the United States directly Despite the fact that the Vienna Summit yielded barely any tangible results it did lead to some very important developments The superpowers came to see for the first time that there was only one way to escape from the atomic hell of their respective arsenals dialogue The peace through fear and the hotline between Washington and Moscow prevented an atomic confrontation Austria successfully demonstrated its new role as neutral state and host when Vienna became a meeting place in the Cold War In The Vienna Summit and Its Importance in International History international experts use new Russian and Western sources to analyze what really happened during this critical time and why the parties had a close shave with catastrophe Mountain Climbing Oliver Scott, AI, 2025-03-10
