

T-65 X-WING

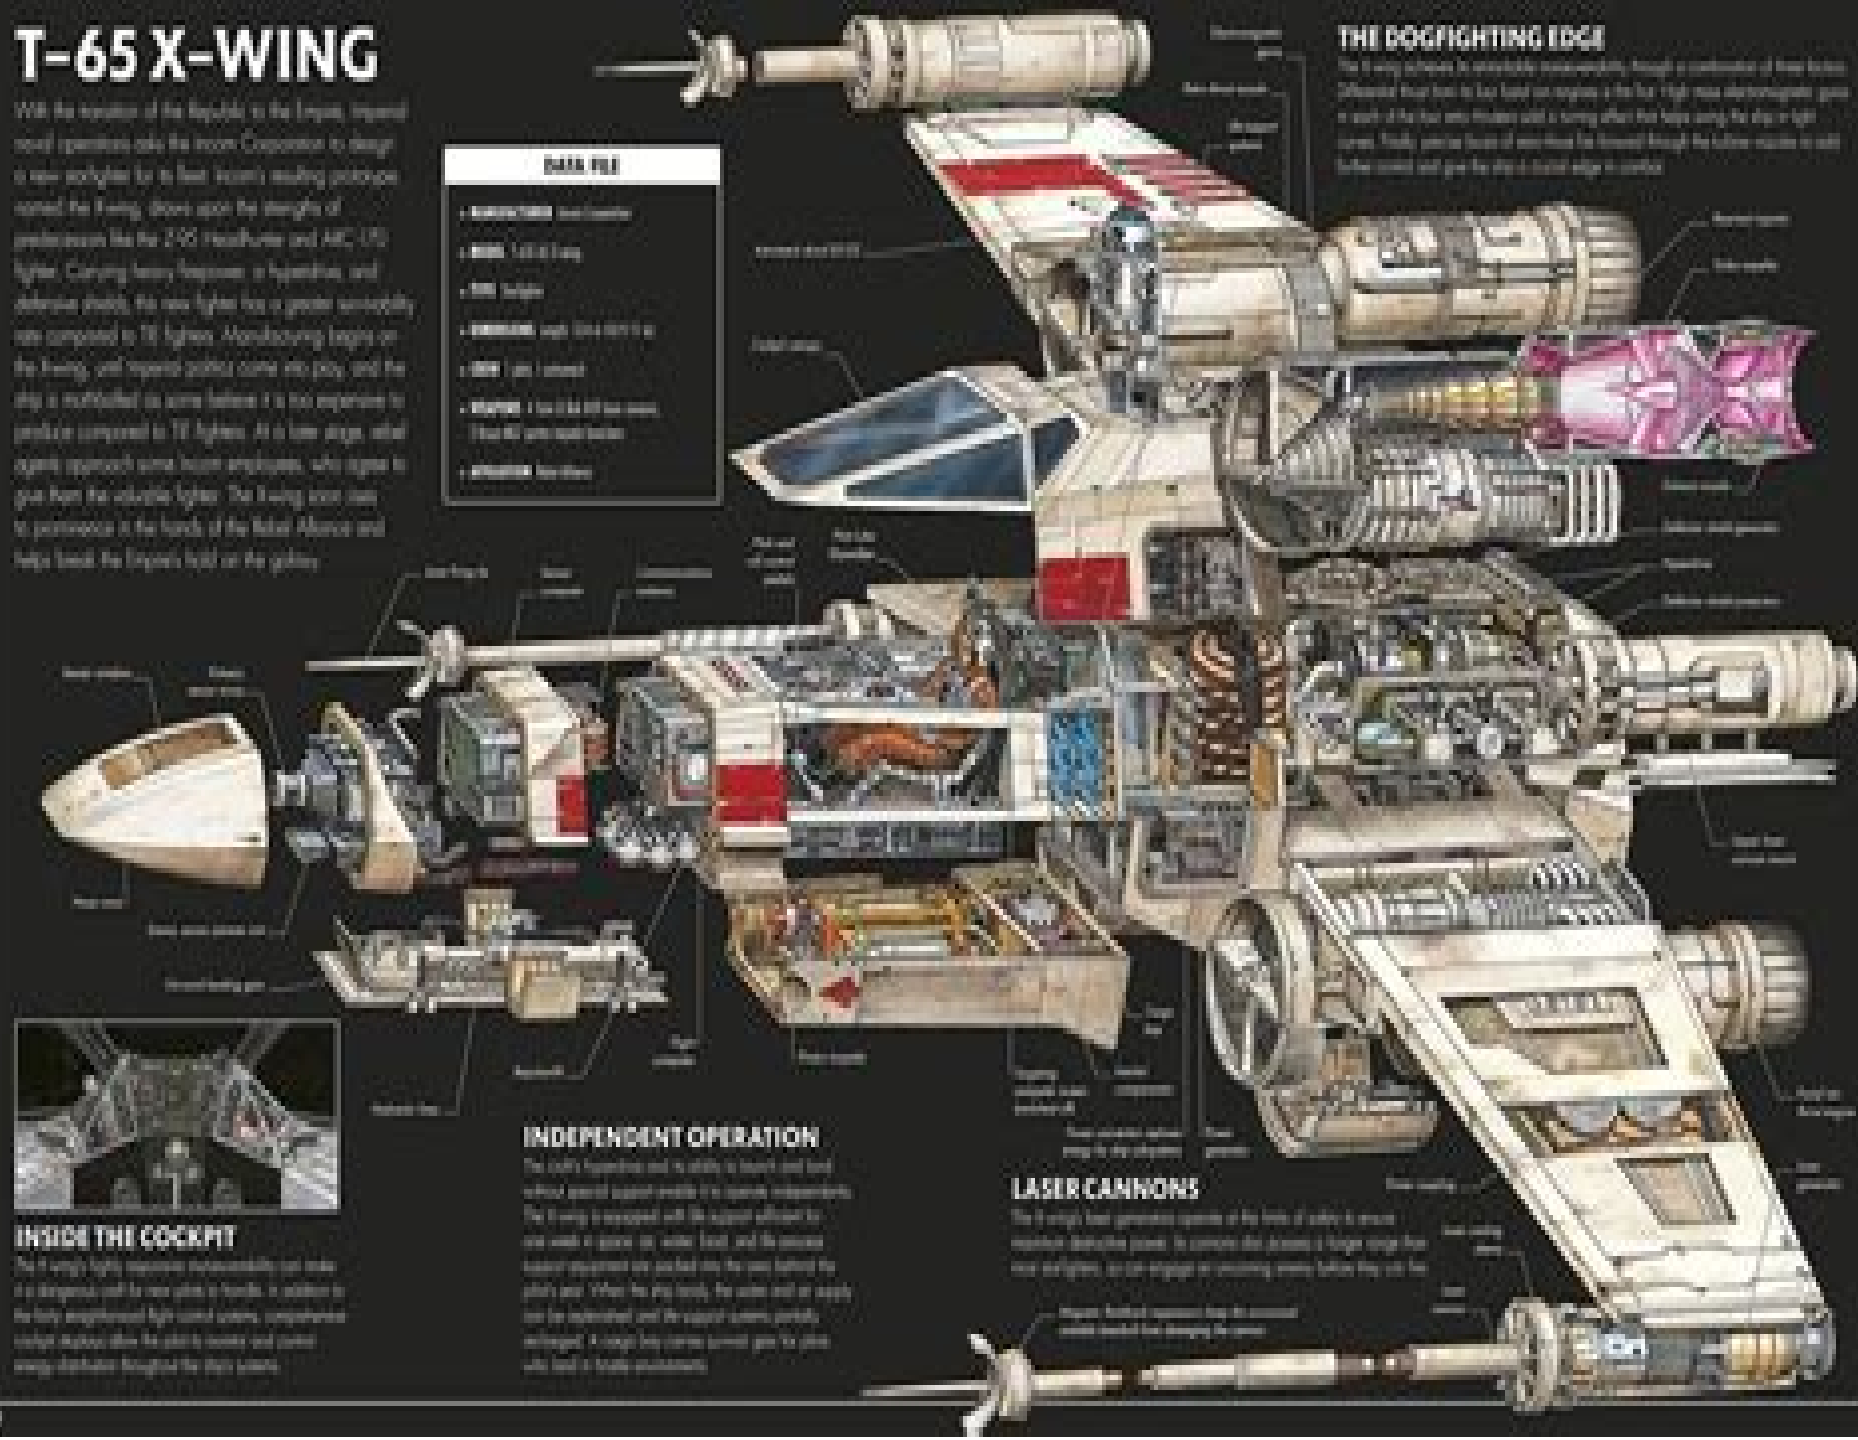

With the invasion of the Republic by the Empire, Imperial naval operations take the form Corporation to design a new fighter for its fleet. Yoda's leading principles inspired the X-wing, drawing upon the strengths of predecessors like the Z-95 Headhunter and ARC-170 fighter. Carrying heavy firepower, a hyperdrive, and defensive shields, the new fighter has a greater versatility rate compared to TIE fighters. Manufacturing begins on the X-wing, and Imperial orders come into play, and the ship is manufactured in some believe it is too expensive to produce compared to TIE fighters. At a later stage, rebel agents approach some Imperial employees, who agree to pass them the valuable fighter. The X-wing soon flies to prominence in the hands of the Rebel Alliance and helps break the Empire's hold on the galaxy.

THE DOGFIGHTING EDGE

The X-wing achieves its remarkable maneuverability through a combination of three factors. Different from most in the fleet, the X-wing has high mass electromagnetic guns in each of the four wing thrusters and a spring action that helps using the ship in tight corners. Finally, precise forces of ion thrusters are focused through the tailfin, enabling it to better control and give the ship a tactical edge in combat.

INSIDE THE COCKPIT

The X-wing's highly responsive maneuverability can make it a dangerous craft for new pilots to handle. In addition to the fully implemented light control console, comprehensive cockpit modules allow the pilots to monitor and control energy distribution throughout the ship's systems.

INDEPENDENT OPERATION

The craft's responsiveness and its ability to launch and land without ground support enable it to operate independently. The X-wing is equipped with its own support system for one week in space, no water fuel, and the necessary support equipment are packed into the core behind the pilot's seat. When the ship lands, the water tank or supply can be replenished and the support system partially recharged. A single day's mission cannot give the ship what it needs to operate continuously.

LASER CANNONS

The X-wing has four powerful cannons at the ends of each wing to ensure maximum destructive power. Its cannons also possess a target range that can be adjusted, so that the cannons can engage an incoming enemy before they can fire.

Major fuel tanks are located in the wings, which can be used to store extra fuel, increasing the range.
