Ucles 2014 33 May June:

The Salvador Option Russell Crandall, 2016-05-23 El Salvador's civil war between the Salvadoran government and Marxist guerrillas erupted into full force in early 1981 and endured for eleven bloody years. Unwilling to tolerate an advance of Soviet and Cuban backed communism in its geopolitical backyard the US provided over six billion dollars in military and economic aid to the Salvadoran government. El Salvador was a deeply controversial issue in American society and divided Congress and the public into left and right. Relying on thousands of archival documents as well as interviews with participants on both sides of the war, The Salvador Option offers a thorough and fair minded interpretation of the available evidence. If success is defined narrowly there is little question that the Salvador Option achieved its Cold War strategic objectives of checking communism. Much more difficult however is to determine what human price this success entailed: a toll suffered almost entirely by Salvadorans in this brutal civil war.

Academic Development and its Practitioners Gert Young, 2022-03-03 The chapters in this collection are reflections of the intellectual, emotional and day to day experiences of professional staff engaged in academic development. They provide the reader with glimpses of how academic developers at one South African university are continuously shaping their identities through sense making processes, how they creatively apply different theoretical approaches to both analysing and informing their work, and what their views are of the practical and systemic challenges facing higher education. As such, this book expands on as well as challenges the dominant ways of thinking about academic development and academic developers in higher education.

Inflammation in Respiratory and Neurological Diseases and the immune-interaction of the lung-brain axis Xiaohuan Xia, 2024-01-18 Despite great advances in diagnosis and treatment that we witnessed in the last decades over a billion people suffer from both respiratory and neurological diseases each year which poses great threats to the public health and economic burden worldwide In many instances the underlying pathogenic mechanisms are still poorly understood which significantly limits the efficacy of therapeutic methods. In this regard, lines of evidence pinpoint the important role of immunity and inflammation in both respiratory disorders e.g. pulmonary hypertension, chronic obstructive pulmonary disease, asthma etc. and neurological ones e.g. neurodegenerative diseases, stroke, depression etc. The accumulation of inflammatory cells and an excess of cytokines and chemokines at the inflammatory site would result from the disturbance of the body's delicate balance between immunity and tolerance. Therefore, it gives rise to chronic inflammation and autoimmunity underlying the development of both lung and neurological diseases. Furthermore, the inflammation interaction between lung and brain has been identified, suggesting the existence and importance of the lung-brain axis in the regulation of immune responses in the lung and brain that contribute to the onset and progression of both respiratory and neurological diseases. Nevertheless, inflammatory or immunity-related risk factors as well as novel targets and therapies against inflammation or immunity help early diagnosis and treatment of respiratory and neurological diseases. At present, the full picture of the molecular mechanisms of how immuno-inflammatory activation and the immune cells orchestrate the tissue remodeling leading to respiratory and neurological diseases remains unclear. The identification of inflammatory molecules as therapeutic targets or biomarkers are worth further scrutiny to halt the disease progression and monitor the therapeutic interventions.

Validating Second Language Reading

Examinations Rachel Yi-fen Wu, 2014-09-25 Validating Second Language Reading Examinations describes the development of an empirical framework for test validation and comparison of reading tests at different proficiency levels through a critical evaluation of alignment with the Common European Framework of Reference (CEFR). It focuses on contextual parameters, cognitive processing operations and test results and identifies parameters for the description of different levels of reading proficiency examinations. The volume explores procedures for linking tests to the CEFR and proposes both qualitative and quantitative methods that complement the procedures recommended in the Council of Europe's Relating Language Examinations to the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (CEFR): A Manual piloted in 2003 and revised 2009. Key features of the book include a detailed review of the literature on CEFR alignment, vertical scaling, test specifications and test comparability, a comprehensive and coherent approach to the validation of reading tests, an accessible and systematic description of procedures for collecting validity evidence based on a sound theoretical framework, a case study comparing different testing systems targeting the same CEFR level.

The Effective Teaching of Biology Chris R. Brown, 2014-05-12 The Effective Teaching of Biology aims to identify the special dimensions of the subject, how it contributes to the curriculum as a whole and why the teaching of biology differs from the teaching of other subjects. Current legal and safety requirements are provided together with practical teaching ideas and sources of information. The book also covers contemporary issues which are the subject of extensive debate, such as the changing patterns of assessment of pupils, the use of living organisms in school and the nature of learning difficulties which pupils experience.
