

UbD: Stages of Backward Design

Stage 1. Identify desired results.

Guiding Questions

- What are the established goals?
- What "big ideas" do we want students to come to understand?
- What essential questions will stimulate inquiry?
- What knowledge and skills need to be acquired given the understandings and related content standards? What focus questions will guide students to targeted knowledge and skills?

Stage 2. Determine acceptable evidence.

Guiding Questions

- What is sufficient and telling evidence of understanding?
- Keeping the goals in mind, what performance tasks should anchor and focus the unit?
- What criteria will be used to assess the work?
- Will the assessment reveal and distinguish those who really understand versus those who only seem to understand?

3. Plan learning experiences and instruction.

Guiding Question

- What instructional strategies and learning activities are needed to achieve the results identified in Stage 1 and reflected in the assessment evidence specified in Stage 2?

Faith-Based Education That Constructs HeeKap Lee, 2010-08-09 Constructivism is everywhere It is a hot issue at this time in the field of philosophy education technology and religion However can constructivism be an alternative approach in faith based education While some conclude that Jesus knew learning was an active knowledge creating process and that he always encouraged his disciples to think deeply and go beyond the surface level others would find that constructivism undercuts faith based education because of its claims to relativity For example constructivists claim that meaning is imposed on the world by us rather than existing in the world independently from us Thus they proclaim that truth is relative to particular times places and people Christians hold that truth does exist absolutely So how can there be a way forward for faith based educators who see the good in the constructivist approach In Faith Based Education that Constructs readers will find a unique approach whereby constructivism may appropriately be applied to a faith based education setting Although disagreement can occur between constructivism and faith based education this book concludes that constructivist thought and Christian faith based education are in the end congruent and harmonious in significant ways Those faith based educators who continue to hold cautionary views of radical constructivist assertions against absolute truths need not
