Wepner,Diane W. Gomez,Katie Egan Cunningham,Kristin N. Rainville,Courtney Kelly,2016 Dancing in the Light Marcia Behrenbruch,2012-11-04 Sustainability globalization the rapid growth of knowledge and the need for internationally minded citizens require a rethinking of education Concept based inquiry learning has been offered for over a century as an alternative to traditional education centered on textbooks invasive standardized testing and control external to the student Yet the widespread change in teaching styles required to shift education to meet 21st century requirements has been sporadic at best This book tells several stories The first is a teacher's journey to discover a different way of teaching and learning The second is a summary of the theory used to explain and justify the change in pedagogy to the wider school community The third are stories from student and teachers who practice inquiry learning The result is a description of 6 essential elements for a successful inquiry learning environment Although this research was conducted at a single school it offers important insights for other schools who are considering change to a more constructivist sustainable approach to education Marcia Behrenbruch has taught at all levels of schooling from the early years to year 12 She has lived and worked in Canada the Netherlands Australia Vietnam and Singapore Most of her 15 years in school administration focused on curriculum innovation and facilitating change She completed her doctoral studies at Melbourne Graduate School of Education and is currently a global head of professional development for an international not for profit educational organization

Understanding by Design Grant P. Wiggins, Jay McTighe, 2005 What is understanding and how does it differ from knowledge How can we determine the big ideas worth understanding Why is understanding an important teaching goal and how do we know when students have attained it How can we create a rigorous and engaging curriculum that focuses on understanding and leads to improved student performance in today's high stakes standards based environment Authors Grant Wiggins and Jay McTighe answer these and many other questions in this second edition of Understanding by Design Drawing on feedback from thousands of educators around the world who have used the UbD framework since its introduction in 1998 the authors have greatly revised and expanded their original work to guide educators across the K-16 spectrum in the design of curriculum assessment and instruction With an improved UbD Template at its core the book explains the rationale of backward design and explores in greater depth the meaning of such key ideas as essential questions and transfer tasks Readers will learn why the familiar coverage and activity based approaches to curriculum design fall short and how a focus on the six facets of understanding can enrich student learning With an expanded array of practical strategies tools and examples from all subject areas the book demonstrates how the research based principles of Understanding by Design apply to district frameworks as well as to individual units of curriculum Combining provocative ideas thoughtful analysis and tested approaches this new edition of Understanding by Design offers teacher designers a clear path to the creation of curriculum that ensures better learning and a more stimulating experience for students and teachers alike

Galle,Denise Pinette Domizi,2021-11-15 The eight essays in Campus Conversations provide some of the best scholarly work emerging from individual faculty learning communities in a statewide program called the Chancellor's Learning Scholar CLS program. The CLS program began in 2018 as an initiative designed to include large numbers of the University System of Georgia's USG about 12 000 fulltime teaching faculty in the USG's statewide student success efforts. The approximately 2 000 faculty who have participated in the first two years of the CLS program learned about the eight pedagogies of student success which can help engage students more deeply thereby retaining them and deepening their learning. These pedagogies include small teaching based on the Jim Lang book inclusive pedagogy Transparency in Learning and Teaching TiLT course design high impact practices HIPs brain based learning academic mindset and the Scholarship of Teaching and Learning SoTL. As teaching and learning scholarship each essay has its origin in the topic for which the learning community was formed. The collection demonstrates the range of topics and many of the ways in which USG faculty have explored and applied these pedagogies to their own institutional contexts and courses. The essays selected for inclusion in this volume also embody different responses to the outcomes of the program as set out at the inception of the program.

Trends in Teaching Experimentation in the Life Sciences Nancy J. Pelaez, Stephanie M. Gardner, Trevor R. Anderson, 2022-05-11. This book is a guide for educators on how to develop and evaluate evidence based strategies for teaching biological experimentation to thereby improve existing and develop new curricula. It unveils the flawed assumptions made at the classroom department and institutional level about what students are learning and what help they might need to develop competence in biological experimentation. Specific case studies illustrate a comprehensive list of key scientific competencies that unpack what it means to be a competent experimental life scientist. It includes explicit evidence based guidelines for educators regarding the teaching learning and assessment of biological research competencies. The book also provides practical teacher guides and exemplars of assignments and assessments. It contains a complete analysis of the variety of tools developed thus far to assess learning in this domain. This book contributes to the growth of public understanding of biological issues including scientific literacy and the crucial importance of evidence based decision making around public policy. It will be beneficial to life science instructors biology education researchers and science administrators who aim to improve teaching in life science departments.
